

MARTY BURKE
Seeks nomination

Pilot seeks Conservative nomination

Local Air Canada Pilot and military veteran, Marty Burke, 43, of Guelph, has announced his intention to seek the Conservative Party nomination for the new federal riding of Wellington-Halton Hills.

"I spent 23 years serving our country in the military - on land sea and in the air," Burke says. "Now I want to serve the people of Wellington-Halton Hills as their Member of Parliament."

Wellington-Halton Hills is a new riding created by the redistribution of electoral boundaries because of population changes.

Born in England, Burke came to Canada with his parents in 1966 and grew up in Saskatchewan. He joined the Canadian Forces in 1977 and served as a naval officer and air navigator as well as doing several peacekeeping missions in the Middle East through the 1980s. He earned his pilot's wings at CFB Moose Jaw in 1992. Since returning to civilian life in 2000, he has become an Air Canada pilot.

Saying the Liberals' "free ride is over", Burke is enthusiastic about the next election because voters have a chance to elect a new MP from a new party that draws on the strengths of both the Progressive Conservative and Canadian Alliance Parties.

Burke believes that action is required to clean up the waste and destruction of a decade of Liberal mismanagement.

"A good military officer is one who displays leadership, decision-making ability, integrity, loyalty, discipline and courage," he said. "I believe these characteristics will also make me a good MP for Wellington-Halton Hills."

Burke has a science degree from the University of Regina. He and his wife Trish, have three children.

The Conservative Party candidate nomination meeting is scheduled for March. Anyone seeking more information on how to join the new Conservative Party of Canada or to join Burke's team is invited to call 763-4384.
