Approve 17 lot subdivision in Crewson Corners

Wellington County Council has approved a vastly downsized rural estate subdivision, just over the eastern Halton Hills boundary in Crewson Corners.

A 17-lot subdivision, owned by Thomasfield Homes of Guelph, will be built on a 51-hectare property that fronts on the Halton Hills-Erin Town Line and the Eramosa-Erin Town

Line. Council expanded the hamlet boundary to allow the subdivision that includes two protected woodlots and a wetland.

The original plan called for 72 lots and the reduction to 17 resolved many issues raised by the public and commenting agencies, including traffic safety and impacts on local wells, groundwater and wetlands.

Paul Evans Bob Duby Sherry McNabb Marg MacKinnon Bob MacKinnon

Paul Evans, Funeral Director

Paul received his Funeral Director's license in 1993 after working with Bruce and Rhoda Shoemaker and serving his apprenticeship with McIntyre and Wilkie Funeral Home in Guelph. Paul is well known to many of you and has been working with Bob and Margaret ever since they returned the funeral home to family ownership in October of 1999. In addition to his calling as a funeral director, his talents for renovating and decorating have been instrumental in returning the funeral home to its former glory.

Bob Duby, Funeral Director

Bob received his Funeral Director's license in 1963 after serving his apprenticeship with Bruce and Rhoda Shoemaker. He credits Bruce and Rhoda Shoemaker with instilling key business values. Through Bruce he developed strong beliefs in providing the best service possible to customers, the importance of integrity and treating everyone with respect. It is interesting to note that Bob Duby and Bob MacKinnon both entered the funeral service education program at the same time, a little more than 40 years ago. Bob Duby was born and raised in Acton and his family is well known in the area. His father, Alf Duby was the town Superintendent and later, when he retired, he often helped Bruce and Rhoda at the Shoemaker Funeral Home.

Sherry McNabb, Receptionist

Sherry is also a long-time resident of Acton and is well-known to this community having worked 30 years with our local Bank of Montreal. She is the friendly face who greets you at the front door and most often calls you by name (or sweetheart) whenever you have occasion to visit at the funeral home.
