A Silver medal winning architectural student, students who produce the year book, run the student council and several students who "pulled up their socks" this semester were among the 38 students honoured at a recent Acton Achievers breakfast at Acton High School.

"This is a very special event because it gives us the chance to recognize students who perhaps could be recognized in other ways, but perhaps not as well," retiring principal Greg MacPherson told the crowd of student awardees and a large crowd of their proud parents.

The awardees include:
Technical students
Mark Boycott - Silver medal winner in mechanical CADD (computer-aided drafting and design), and a fourth place in architectural

CADD at the Halton Skills Competition

Angela Henderson - Bronze medal winner in architectural CADD competition at the Halton Skills competition

Kasimir Kosakowski - Silver medal in mechanical CADD at the national skills competition, Gold medals in provincial and Halton skills competitions

Matthew Locke - earned a Gold medal in architectural CADD in the Halton competition and a Silver medal at the provincial level

Vince Zmija - described by his teacher as having a "bit of a checkered past" in English class, Zmija was recognized for his dedication, perseverance and consistent attendance resulting in much improved work this semester

Communications students
Nathan Bowen and Kyle Williams - competed in the Halton Skills competition in the communication category, produced a documentary on the school's Relay for Life

Mark Rauwerda and Tom Ferrier - Grade 12 communications students honoured for "thinking outside of the box" and raising the bar in class

Cody Green and Brett Kirton - Grade 10 communications students who excelled in animation and video and were always willing to help classmates

Alison Minot - honoured for her eye for detail and maintaining a high level of achievement in communications - over 90 per cent

Kurt Watts - after a "rough start," Watts "pulled it out" and made great improvements this semester in communications

Year book committee
Marnie Demand, Marissa Kidd, Urooj Siddiqui, Synnoeve Stockinger, Spencer Morrison - members of the year book committee were honoured for their dedication and hard work that will help students and staff "cherish their memories" of high school

Spencer Morrison - a national soccer team member, was honoured for his help with the school's girls' team which finished second in Halton

Michael Handley - volunteered as the school's sound technician for the past three years

Laura Stevenson - honoured for her "Herculean" efforts in producing the school's first film festival Improv team

Kris Haig-Brown, Michael Handley, Jeremy Mersereau, Aislinn Moore, Chris Teggart, Bryan Walker, Geoff Webster - the team made it to the Zone finals at the Canadian Improv Games

Jeff Breen - recognized for raising his mark in Grade 9 applied French by 20 per cent, and for being an "all-round great guy in class"

Diana Drechsel - thanked
