GREEN THUMB GARDENING

CONTROLLING BLACK KNOT ON FRUIT TREES

One of the most important benefits of pruning is to improve the health of the tree. Pruning out dead and diseased branches will control the spread of diseases to healthy parts of the tree. This type of pruning is particularly important with stone-bearing fruit trees such as cherries, plums and peaches. These are frequently infected with a fungal disease known as "Black Knot". It initially develops on young twigs and can be identified by the hard, crispy, black growths. They are usually thicker than the twig and can reach up to one foot long or more.

In the spring a layer of spores form on the "knots". The spores are then released to infect other branches and other susceptible fruit trees. To prevent further spread of this disease the knots should be pruned from the trees in late winter (before the spores develop and disperse). Since this is a fungal disease it can be spread with the pruning equipment itself. To prevent this, sterilize all pruning equipment with rubbing alcohol or diluted bleach. Cut off all black knots at least six inches below the visible infection.

Annual pruning will control the spread of the disease and result in healthier, more productive fruit trees.

Every other week Christine Cole of Tuitman's Garden Centre and Landscaping, Highway 25, 1 mile south of Acton, 853-2480, will be presenting helpful tips and information to assist you in creating your garden showplace!

Taking a stand

Canada has taken a stand to save an ocean fishery from extinction. Ten years of negotiating has failed to produce any positive result, can you imagine the world's oceans being fished to extinction? It's really not difficult if we look to the past.

The Great Auk, a bird that could not fly was one of the early victims when western man first came to North America. The Passenger Pigeon was blown out of the air in the early 1900's by so called sport shooters.

Human beings have established a track record of laying waste to nature, partially out of greed, partially out of ignorance.

The Turbot War, is greed pure and simple. If we had chosen to do nothing Turbot would follow Cod into commercial extinction, god only knows when Cod populations will return to harvestable levels.

For Canada to stand boldly in the face of hundreds of years of a country doing exactly what they wanted to, will required the quiet resolve of every citizen.

You may ask, what does this have to do with the citizens of Halton-Peel?

First of all, there are a significant number of people who have emigrated here from the east coast over the years and whose families are tied to the tradition of the fishery.

Secondly, and just as important, virtually every one of us hope for an ecology and an environment that will be enhanced over the year rather than decimated.
