Williams Mill hosts open house

Anyone who is interested in art, artists and art-making won't want to miss the Williams Mill Creative Arts Studio's official opening on May 13 and 14.

Studios will be open 10 a.m. until 5 p.m. for visitors to meet the artists, watch demonstrations and enjoy the creative atmosphere.

In quiet village of Glen Williams is the historically-restored mill. It is filled with professional artists and craftspeople including: a potter, weaver, clockmaker, designer of silver jewelry and a number of painters working in various styles and mediums.

For Mothers's Day weekend, take your mom on a country drive...discover the village of Glen Williams...find true Canadian handcrafted treasure and take home a piece of history made in the Williams Mill.

Centennial school held its Spring Rhythms 95 on April 27. Numerous bands, choirs, solos and duets performed in front of the school during the day as well as a night performance for parents and friends. Sarah Williams performed A Whole New World from the Aladdin soundtrack.

And of course a word to donors and curlers alike, for translating your interest and concern into generous support for agency programs.

Next year's bonspiel offers another opportunity to challenge Dan Purdy's squad which raised an amazing $5,300.

Hope to see you all again in 1996.
