Willem Van Suydam

Organ concert celebrated at Knox

Knox Presbyterian Church members recently celebrated their newly refurbished organ with a concert by Willem Van Suydam.

Special guests were the Georgetown Children's Chorus, conducted by A. Dale Wood.

Knox has just completed a major overhaul of its pipe organ and decided to hire a professional organist to show off the results. Many pipe organs are being replaced by electronic organs these days but Knox decided that the sound of a pipe organ was worth the refurbishing expense.

"You just can't get the same tone and sound from electronics" said an enthusiastic Rev. Peter Barrow.

The organ, purchased in 1951 from Lady Kemp's estate in Oakville, was revamped in the early 60's by Keates Organ in Acton. Thirty years later, the same company (now called Keates Geisler), cleaned the pipes and bellows and "revoiced" several stops. One concession to technology was the replacement of the previous action with an electronic action.

Organist, Willem Van Suydam, has studied organ since age 12. He is returning to his native Holland this spring as part of an European tour.
