4th Georgetown emulate rocket scientists for a day

By JEAN LAYMAN

Special to The Independent/Free Press

Fourth Georgetown Scouts of St. Andrew's United Church held a very successful Rocket Launch on Sunday, April 23 at the new Castlebury Hollow Park at the corner of the Eighth line and Argyll Rd.

Scouter Barb Rothwell challenged the troop to make a rocket (a great hands on activity) the first of March, to be ready for launch the end of April. Many designs were created by the Scouts and Leaders. Daniel Dayment made an extra large rocket with the help of his dad.

The Rockets used the Estes engine and some rockets went so high in the clouds they couldn't be seen momentarily. Troop Scouter John Rothwell operated the Ignition Box. Assistants Bruce Leonard and Hugh Tomkinson helped where needed. The weather was brisk but the fun was great.
