

Will candidates attend?

Reformers sponsor election debate

The Reform Party of Canada is not putting forward a candidate in the provincial election, but they are hosting an all-candidates meeting in Georgetown.

It will be held Thursday, May 25 at the John Elliott Theatre. Everyone, not only Reformers, are invited.

"This is unique, isn't it?" said Clay Downes, president of the Reform Party of Halton-Peel. "Nobody has ever done this before. We're looking for a place to put our vote and we'll have the Reform name in the news without putting forward a candidate." He said he came up with the idea and hasn't heard of a federal party sponsoring an all-candidates meeting for a provincial election.

Liberal candidate Walt Elliot said he isn't sure yet whether he will be attending the meeting. But he told Downes he is "receptive" to the idea, he said.

"I think it's a special interest group and if I had my druthers, it would be a more disinterested group running these things," he said. He will meet with his campaign team to decide whether he will attend later this month, and it will depend partly on whether other candidates are attending and what else is going on at that time.

Noel Duignan told the Independent/Free Press that he does not intend to go to that meeting. Nor did he attend a breakfast meeting last week held by the Chamber of Commerce.

PC candidate Ted Chudleigh said he will attend.

"Since it's a federal party which doesn't have any candidates, I think it's very appropriate that they sponsor (a meeting.) It encourages the democratic process and they do have a block of votes," he said.

"I think it is a terrific idea," Family Coalition Party candidate Alex McKee said. "Because they are a national party and a political party. They're probably the only political party that could sponsor a debate and maintain objectivity. I applaud them for it."

During the last campaign, Elliot said there were four all-candidates meetings: one in Acton, Georgetown and Milton, and a fourth held by environmental groups.

So far in this campaign there will be one held by the Milton Chamber of Commerce and another by the University Women's Club in Georgetown, both after the Victoria Day long weekend. A firm date has not been set for the UWC event.

Georgetown Christian School will also hold a meeting on Tuesday, May 23 beginning at 7:30 p.m. in the school gym. The focus of the event will be education. Chudleigh and McKee are the only confirmed candidates at this time.

Hi!
My name is Kim Moore, and I would like to be your new hairdresser. I have been a licensed stylist since 1991, and I have a fully equipped salon in the basement of my home. I'd like to invite you to make an appointment with me. I think you will find my prices are very reasonable, and you may prefer the privacy of an In-Home salon.

My prices are as follows:
Wash & cut (add style)	$10.00 / $15.00
Perm (cut & style Included)	$45.00
Colour Retouch	$25.00 / $18.00
Streaks (cut & style Included)	$35.00
