... Lend Me Your Ears

Summers just around the corner, and with it comes anticipation of soaking up the sun at your favorite beach or by poolside. For those of you who have middle ear drainage tubes in your eardrums because of a middle ear infection, or just have sensitive ears, you know how harmful even a minute amount of pool or lake water can be to your ears.

This is why the Hearing Clinic is pleased to announce "Floatable" custom molded earplugs, individually designed to give your ear an airtight fit so you can enjoy your summer to the fullest.

No referrals needed. Simply call our office for a Free Consultation.

Take a bite of a 100-foot banana split June 11

Dig into a 100-foot banana split and get a taste of Ontario's dairy industry during June's Dairy Days at the Ontario Agricultural Museum.

Featured June 6 to 11, will be dozens of entertaining, hands-on activities, including free dairy sample, "dairy discovery" centres and butter and ice cream making demonstrations.

A giant banana split contest will top off Dairy Days on Sunday, June 11. Young and old will be invited to participate in the ever-popular event sponsored by Stoney Creek Dairy. Spectators will be treated to the sight of 10 teams, including visitors and members of the media, racing against time to make this ice cream treat.

Saturday and Sunday, June 10-11, visitors who view afternoon milking demonstrations will have an opportunity to enter a draw to win an autographed hockey stick and pick up a signed poster by Toronto Maple Leaf

Captain Doug Gilmour, while supplies last. The draw is being sponsored by the Ontario Milk Marketing Board.

While at the museum, explore the 80-acre site and discover more than 30 buildings containing dozens of displays depicting the evolution of Ontario's agriculture and rural life.

The museum is open daily until Sept. 24, 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. To reach the museum, take Highway 25 south and follow the signs.

HERE COMES THE SUN!

That's right, and with it comes the heat and the dryness. Soon the town will be asking you to water your lawn on even or odd days. This could become frustrating. However, if you water correctly, watering your lawn every day is not always necessary.

When a lawn requires water, it takes on a dark haze with a silvery tinge. If you walk on a lawn with these dark patches, your footprints will be visible. Your lawn needs 3 to 4 cm (1 to 1 1/2 inches) of water weekly. Deep, heavy waterings are better than light sprinklings. Watering 2-3 times per week, deeply, will encourage strong, healthy roots. Light waterings encourage shallow, weak roots and promote weed grass infestations. To accurately measure the amount of water you are applying to your lawn, place a straight sided container within the spread of your sprinkler to gather the sprinklings. Time how long it takes to collect 3/4" of water. Then, twice weekly, water your lawn for this time period.

Early morning is the best time to water. Midday watering during hot, dry weather, can waste water, since much of the water evaporates. However, if the lawn shows dark or orange patches due to drought, water it immediately regardless of the time of day. Evening watering promotes the spread of disease. If you must water later in the day or early evening, because it is the only time available, shut your sprinkler off in time to allow your lawn to dry before the sun goes down (approximately 7 to 7:30 p.m.).
