

Seniors looking forward to cruise

 She added her mother enjoyed gardening and needlepoint and for the past 40 years played a regular canasta game with friends.

The bus trip to northern Ontario was Maura Mercer's first outing with area seniors.

"She had just joined the seniors centre," said Maura's daughter Jane Stoyles. "It was really good for her." Jane said her mom had done some volunteer work at the centre and taken adult fitness and tai chi classes there.

She added her mom was going to retire from her part-time job in sales at the Bay in Brampton next year and was hoping to become more involved with the seniors centre.

"She was really looking forward to this trip," said Jane.

She added her mother, whose husband James died 11 years ago, was very busy with her family, and looking forward to the birth of Jane's child (her first grandson) in three weeks.

Funeral services for the three women were held Saturday.

Nassagaweya forming council

The Nassagaweya Community School Association may soon be known as the Nassagaweya Community School Council.

In response to the Ontario Ministry of Education announcement in February 1995, that all schools in the province should establish a Community School Council, the NCSA is investigating the possibilities of converting the current organization into the NCSC — Nassagaweya Community School Council.

The inaugural meeting of the NCSC (Nassagaweya Community School Council) is set for the evening of Tuesday, June 13, and will include the election of council representatives. Anyone interested in this import issue is encouraged to attend one or both meetings.

According to information available from the Ministry, the function of schools councils will be to provide advice to the principals and sometimes to boards on a variety of school-related issues.

Parents and community members who might be interested in serving on the council should call Jim Harding in advance at (905) 854-2418.
