Sewing group continues

By BEV GOSS
Special to The Independent/Free Press

At the July executive meeting of the Halton Creative Sewing Association it was decided to continue on a smaller, less formal basis.

Monthly meetings will be held at the home of Shirley Lyons. There will be an annual membership fee due in September. The first meeting will be September 14 at 7:30 p.m. If interested in continuing with us or for more information call Shirley at 877-5485 or Bev at 877-9790.

In the past two to three years they have had evenings of fun and creative ideas. There were presentations and classes in collage tapestry coats, teddy bears, silk ribbon embroidery, recycling ideas, home decorating, foil art, fitting patterns to you, and much more.

Thanks to Shirley Lyons and Bonnie Glass for setting up programs over that period of time.

The new executive 1995/96 is as follows: chair, Sally Plackett; co-chair Pearl Sawden; program, Bonnie Glass, Edith Lechien, Beth Gibb; treasurer, vacant; secretary & publicity Bev Goss; social, Madeline Johnston, Laverne Ryder; membership, Shirley Lyons; librarian, Shelley Dubreuil.

They are excited about the upcoming year and new format. Call to let them know you are coming.

Community open house

Community organizations will once again fill the Georgetown Marketplace Mall on September 22 and 23.

Halton Hills Cooperative Program Planning Committee is organizing the event with the cooperation of the mall management.

The theme for this sixth open house is built around the 50th anniversary of the United Nations and is called Partners for Peace: Working together for a Healthy, Safe Community. The community is planning activities based on this theme and suggests participating groups acknowledge it in their displays.

Children in the community will be encouraged to participate in the open house by helping the committee to build a "Promises to Keep" portfolio of the things they will do to keep the peace within themselves, in their families, neighborhoods and schools.

Send your kid to a school where it's O.k. to Kick and scream, lay on the floor and yell at the Teacher.

Your Child has always liked to let out a good yell from time to time, this time let it make a difference! Karate can build many of the positive attributes parents try to build in their children every day.

Boreland's School of Karate can teach your child how to cultivate Self Discipline, Self Defence and "Street Smarts" all in a fun and exciting format.

Call to set up a "one on one" introduction to Karate with Sensei Chris, and (here's the kicker) your child will get a free uniform for coming.

Register your child now, for Fall classes.
