Local YMCA expands its programming

The YMCA is increasing its programming in Georgetown by at least 50 per cent and is offering a wide variety of programs starting this fall.

Joanne Mollot, the community programs supervisor for this region, says "We are excited about offering these activities in Georgetown and hope to meet the needs of the community, especially the youth of this town."

Mollot is looking for any Georgetown area people interested in becoming members of a Volunteer Advisory Recreation Committee, which will meet once a month to discuss specific needs for recreational programs in the community.

She is also looking for instructors who would like to lead the various activities being offered.

The programs that will be available in Georgetown starting in September running until December include: Babysitter Training, "Children the Challenge" parenting course, Playskool, Basketball, Roller Blade Hockey, Youth Club, Daytime Friends, and Women's Self-Defence.

To register or obtain more information on the programs, call the registration desk at the Y at (905) 451-1400 press 0.

To apply for the instructors positions, please visit the Georgetown Canada Employment Centre or fax your resume to Joanne Mollot at (905) 454-8944.
