A tribute to 'our Santa'

Dear editor:

Residents on Norton Crescent, Georgetown, were saddened this past week with the passing of our neighbor, Wayne Wood at the young age of 48. Having lived on our street for over 21 years, he had made many friends. To those of us who knew him well, he had gained our love and respect, a willing hand wherever help was needed.

To those who were new on the street he was known as "the man driving the black truck who always waved and smiled."

Although in failing health throughout the summer, he remained patient and cheerful and maintained his sense of humor, enjoying the many friends who visited.

For many years, a highlight for him was Christmas Eve when as the "jolly old man dressed in the red suit" he made his way to many homes of children, seniors and shut-ins with a visit and gift for each, a symbol of his love and generosity.

We will miss you Wayne, "our beloved Santa" but you have left us with many treasured memories.

Georgetown Fair Board appreciates all the help

Dear editor:

It is my pleasure to thank all the people who helped to make Georgetown Fair a huge success this year.

The Fair directors, chairpersons and members spent many long hours planning and organizing this event and they did an outstanding job. At the same time, I wish to thank all the exhibitors and concessionaires that contributed interesting, informative and varied displays.

My thanks also extends to the service clubs and organizations that not only assisted in a variety of ways but also participated in many events as well. This includes the town staff that were helpful when needed.

Finally, a special thank you to all individuals and businesses that helped sponsor and promote our 1995 Georgetown Fall Fair.
