TRAVEL TIPS

Managing Your Money

- Take some of the local currency for taxis, tips, buses, and telephones. To avoid lines after your arrival, purchase a comfortable amount of foreign cash before you leave, ideally about $350 Canadian.
- Always carry ID, as identification may be required when cashing travellers cheques.
- Take some U.S. travellers cheques in case you run out of foreign currency or foreign travellers cheques. These are easily converted abroad or deposited into your bank account if not used.
- Familiarize yourself with the various denominations and respective values of foreign bills before you go.
- Try not to bring back coins from any foreign countries. Most exchange locations will refuse to accept them.
