Arts Alive seeks future stars

Arts Alive will be holding its annual young people's showcase of talent, Stars of Tomorrow, at the John Elliott Theatre on February 9.

The group wants to hear from anyone up to the age of 19 years who can fill a three or four-minute time slot with a performance on a musical instrument, a song, a dance, or whatever their show biz specialty happens to be.

Arts Alive is a committee of volunteers dedicated to promoting the performing arts in Halton Hills. Any funds raised by the committee is spent on improvements to the Cultural Centre. It recently paid for the computer and software required to set up the box office at the John Elliott Theatre.

Would-be performers should contact Maureen Walker at 877-4323 for further information by February 1.

Chess mates

From right, Peter Esau and Martin Teder concentrate on a chess game at the Georgetown Seniors Centre. Esau and Teder just met for the first time and are hoping to start a chess group which will meet weekly. If you are interested in joining, call the Georgetown Seniors Centre at 877-6444.

ANSWERS TO SOME OF THE MOST ASKED QUESTIONS ABOUT CRUISING

Is . . . cruising expensive?
No! A cruise is one of the best vacation values going. Your cost includes all your meals, your cabin accommodation, daytime activities and nightly entertainment. You will be visiting some of the most popular ports in the world.

Is . . . seasickness a problem?
Not really. Modern ship building techniques, together with calm waters, and development of effective preventative medication have virtually made motion sickness a thing of the past!

Do I need a passport?
Sometimes, depending on your cruise itinerary. Your travel agent will advise of proper documentation. If travel visas are needed this is usually handled by the cruise lines.

Can I book on short notice?
Yes, however last minute booking may limit your choice. The advantage of booking early is that you have a greater selection - and there is often an early booking bonus.
