

Jose DaCosta, right, of Orangeville was recently presented with the Peter Robinson painting he won from Godfather's Pizza and the Salvation Army. From left, Cpt. Larry Jennings of the Salvation Army and Godfather's employee Vanessa Vidic. Anyone who made a food donation at Godfather's was given an entry for the draw. The Salvation Army will use the donations for its Winter Relief programs.

Recycling contest for sewers

By BEV GOSS

Special to The Independent/Free Press

Now is the time to get creative! The Halton Creative Sewing Association is again presenting their "Renew your Rejects" evening, March 12, 8 p.m. at St. Andrew's Church, 89 Mountainview Rd., Georgetown.

There will also be a looney/penny sale table, full of great things to win and our guest speaker will be Diane van de Valk of Wastewise.

A $4 admission will be charged to non-members.

The contest is open to all. Requirements are:

- 1) items must be sewn
- 2) items can be for the home or an article of clothing
- 3) items must be accompanied by a short, simple description on a recipe sized card of what the item was in its previous life. A before snap shot works well here but is not necessary. Do not put your name on the card.

We will register your articles when you arrive.

Four $25 prizes will be awarded for the most useful, most innovative, most artistic and best of show. You, the audience will judge the winners by ballot vote.

Please bring your entries during set up time March 12, before 7:15 p.m. For alternate arrangements or more information call Shirley Lyons at 877-5485.

We hope to see many of you entering this contest. Do come out and be part of this special evening. The entries at past shows have been most interesting and informative.

Talk to me baby!!

Happy Birthday Jeanette!
