Major Peewees force fifth game with Milton

SEVEN-SELECTS

They say that close only counts in horseshoes and hand grenades and to the Georgetown Re/Max Seven-Year-Old Selects this could not be more true.

Last Sunday at Memorial Arena the Selects wrangled with their north Halton nemesis from Milton, with the visitors sneaking away with a 3-2 victory.

The Raiders controlled this game from the drop of the puck but a couple of defensive lapses cost the local boys dearly as Milton was able to pounce on their mistakes and capitalize for some timely goals.

The Raiders first goal eluded netminder Curtis Sargent, who thought the puck was headed wide but caught the corner of the net.

This early first period deficit did not deter the Raiders, who battled back with less than five minutes remaining in the frame. Peter Bailey did the damage for the Raiders with assists to Mike LaRose and Raymond Martin.

The second frame was a mirror image of the first as the Raiders dominated at both ends of the rink. Again, Milton was able to count the first goal of the period off a defensive mistake in the slot area.

Not to be denied, the Raiders replied with a solid goal coming off the stick of LaRose. The tally was, once again, set up by Martin with Kyle Westwood earning the other assist.

Milton added a tally late in the period to restore their one goal lead.

The third period belonged to the Raiders as they stormed the net continuously.

Great scoring chances by Ryan Putnam and Jeff Bayley were turned aside. Chris Darling and Mitchell Thompson led charge after charge in an effort to net the equalizer. With steady defensive play from Daniel Eutenier and Cory Cory McLaughlin the Raiders effectively bottled up the Milton squad and prevented them from mounting a sustained offense.

With netminder Cameron Noble on the bench for an extra attacker the Raiders came up just short.

Sterling efforts from Mike Gillham, Brady Gingras and Matt Turner kept the crowd at Memorial Arena on the edge of their seats until the final buzzer.

MAJOR NOVICE

The Georgetown McNally Construction Major Novice Raiders have taken a two-game lead in their OMHA play-off series with Burlington, notching a 6-3 win on Saturday.

Mark Boycott opened the scoring for Georgetown early in the first period from linemates Kevin Field and Matt Velten.

Burlington responded with two quick markers to claim the lead.

Defenseman Danny Slihas intercepted a Burlington pass and scored a shorthanded marker that seemed to stun the opposition.

Georgetown then cruised to a 6-3 win. Rounding out the scoring for the Raiders were Bradley Torres, Nick McLaughlin, Timmy Walinga and Travis Bland. Walinga nabbed a pair of assists while Colin Lumb, Josh Hunt, Matt Chisolme, Slihas and McLaughlin chipped in with singles. Hunt and McCulloch shared the netminding duties.

MINOR ATOM

The Georgetown John Henderson Pro Shop Minor Atoms were all square after week one of their OMHA play-off series with first place Orangeville.

The Raiders claimed a 4-1 win in the opener of the best-of-five series, but Orangeville rebounded to take game two 5-0.

In the opening game of the series the Raiders took an early lead as Gavin Aldridge popped in a rebound from Kyle Termini and Daryl Veltman. Orangeville replied for their lone marker just before the end of the period.

Bradley Norton got hot for the Raiders as he gave his squad a 3-1 lead, notching a pair of second period markers. Matt Hiltz, Jordan Cole and Veltman chipped in assists. An empty-netter from John Moxham secured the win with Ryan Hirtle and Veltman assisting.

Goaltender Daniel Cammick was stellar between the pipes for Georgetown.

The rematch was no contest as Orangeville showed why they finished first in the Bowen Division standings, skating to a 5-0 win.

In Tri-county play-off action the Raiders dropped a 4-3 decision to Burlington. Jordan Cole, Termini and Hiltz scored for the Raiders with Thomas Elinesky, Cole and Norton earned assists.

MAJOR ATOM

The Georgetown Sports Unlimited Major Atom Raiders are leading Brampton two games to one in their best-of-five play-off series, after downing the Maroons 2-1 in Brampton on Tuesday evening.

Donnie Lane, who has been superb throughout the series, backstopped the win for the Raiders.

Georgetown took a two goal lead early in the game and held on to that margin until the Maroons broke the shut-out bid with 43 seconds remaining.

Andrew McGourty scored a shorthanded goal for the Raiders after taking a pass from defensive partner Vince Burke. Dan Walinga netted the other Raider goal after taking a feed from Billy McDonald.

MAJOR PEEWEE

The Georgetown Charley Fitzwhiskey Major Peewee Raiders weren't ready to throw in the towel on their OMHA playoff hopes Tuesday evening, staving off elimination with a 4-3 over Milton in game four of their best-of-five series.

The Raiders managed a win in game one but Milton rallied for a pair of wins, including a 5-3 victory on Sunday evening. The Raiders rallied to force a fifth and final game on Saturday afternoon.

The Winterhawks took control of the series with a 5-3 win in game three, but it wasn't decided until Milton added some insurance with a couple of minutes remaining.

Matt Walinga had given Georgetown an early lead from Ryan Inglis but Milton responded with one of their own 35 seconds later. Tyler Baker restored the Georgetown lead from Peter Veltman and Dave Gibbons before the first frame ended.

The second frame belonged to the Winterhawks as they replied with three unanswered goals for a 4-2 lead.

The Raiders weren't finished. They came out hungry in the final frame, pulling to within one when Derrick Inscoc tapped home a rebound. Veltman earned an assist.

The Winterhawks hung on notching the insurance marker for a 5-3 win and a 2-1 series lead.

Back on home ice the Raiders took control early and hung on for the victory.

Veltman notched the lone marker of the opening frame as he pounced on a rebound. Inscoc picked up the helper.

Milton tied the count before Dave Gibbons found the net on the powerplay. Walinga earned the assist.

Ryan Inglis gave Georgetown a two goal cushion early in the final frame with Veltman and Inscoc assisting.

Milton got one back before Veltman added his second of the night from Inglis.

The Winterhawks pressed late in the game, pulling back to within one but Raider netminder Nate Cardon came up big in the final couple of minutes to preserve the win and force a game five.

PEEWEE II

The Georgetown Chiropractic & Sports Injuries Clinic Peewee IIs are on a roll in their OMHA playoffs.

After rallying to eliminate Orangeville the Raiders travelled to Owen Sound on Sunday for game one of a best-of-five series. The local crew came home winners in a 3-0 shut-out, behind some sparkling netminding from Brendan Louth.

The two sides played a scoreless opening frame before the Raiders revved up in the middle stanza.

Andrew Slihas notched the games first marker from Todd Kerwin and Jamey Doole and then Justin Normore converted a pass from Chad Fleming and Ryan Norton to make it 2-0.

Craig Fisher's point blast from Josh Robbins made it 3-0 before the final buzzer.

Back in Tri-county play-off action Orangeville gained some revenge for their OMHA defeat, as they downed the Raiders 6-1 on Tuesday evening. Kerwin managed the lone goal for the home side with Kyle McIlveena and Slihas assisting.

MAJOR BANTAM

The Georgetown Major Bantams travelled to Ridgeway last weekend for their annual Groundhog Tournament.

While the local crew didn't return home with the silverware they managed a split of their three games, earning a 5-4 win over LaSalle, a 2-2 draw with Chatham and suffering a 7-1 setback to a strong St. Thomas crew.

The Raiders rallied in game one for a 2-2 draw with Chatham.

The opposition built a 2-0 first period lead. Georgetown rallied in the final frame with Judd Richardson and Jon Howell scoring. Ryan Smith Geoff Bahr, John Glover and Dave Markham earned assists.

It was much the same in game two against LaSalle.

The Raiders allowed their rivals a three goal outburst in the first frame and then closed the door for a 5-4 win.

Bahr, Richardson, Markham, Ian Cartwright and Ryan Booth scored for the Raiders while Brian Normore, Cartwright, Markham, Matt McMullen (2), Jesse Ward (2), and Bahr earned assists.

Georgetown was down early again in game three against St. Thomas as they allowed the opposition four first period goals. This time their was no comeback as the lone tally came off the stick of Normore with Bahr assisting, in a 7-1 loss.

Ryan Orchard and Chris Hall split the netminding duties in the tourney.
