

Once again, the North Halton Association for the Developmentally Handicapped is holding the sixth annual Halton Hills Bike-a-Thon, May 26, and representatives from many different areas of NHADH gathered to promote the annual benefit ride. From left, sponsor Ollie Tuchel, Maple Lodge Farms mascot, local village constable Nick Leoni, NHADH client Ron Joyce and his friends Eleanor Russell and Timothy von Boetticher were on hand to publicize the event. New this year, the ride starts from Georgetown fairgrounds, and also features two grand prize mountain bikes and various prizes for reaching certain target amounts. For more info on the ride, contact NHADH at 873-8181.

Bike-a-thon May 26

The North Halton Association for the Developmentally Handicapped say plans are nearly complete for this year's 6th Annual Bike-A-Thon, to be held May 26 at the Georgetown Fairgrounds.

Registration for the day will be at noon and the official start time will be 1 p.m. The 11km course is designed to accommodate all levels of ability and the inside track has also been made available for children and wheelchairs.

Proceeds are used to support programs and services for persons with a developmental disability.

In order to encourage all the students in North Halton to participate, the association is presenting a challenge to the schools. The school with the highest participation rate, as determined on the day of the Bike-A-Thon, will receive a $500 contribution toward the purchase of a computer for their school.

As in previous years, two bicycles will be awarded for the top two fundraisers, made possible through the support from Ollie's Cyle and Sport in Georgetown.

New this year is a predetermined prize structure for various fundraising levels, ranging from food vouchers to bicycle helmets.

For registration info call NHADH, 873-8181.
