GLT gears up for 32nd season

Georgetown Little Theatre is busy planning for its 32nd season with productions of Noel Coward's romantic comedy Private Lives and a new thriller by Ira Levin, Dr. Cook's Garden.

Work has already started and rehearsals are about to begin on the opening comedy, The Curate Shakespeare As You Like It. This tells the hilarious tale of a curate who tries to put on a production of Shakespeare's As You Like It with a singularly inept cast of characters. For this production GLT has received a grant from Theatre Ontario to engage a professional director, Mimi Mekler. Play dates are October 23-31.

A subscription for all three plays costs only $21, a saving of almost 30 per cent on regular ticket prices. In addition, subscribers have preferred seat selection. There are no taxes to pay — it's GLT, not GST. Season tickets are available by calling 877-3700, or by mailing in a subscription form available from members. Information about productions, subscriptions and patronages will be available at the Fall Fair this year, courtesy of the Rotary Club of Georgetown, who have offered to share a corner of their bingo tent.

GLT present all their performances at the John Elliot Theatre and rehearse in their own premises in Stewarttown. The next general meeting will be at 33 Stewarttown Rd. at 8 p.m. on Tuesday September 1. Anyone wishing to come along and participate in the new season will be made most welcome.

Herb (Trevor Rutherford) questions why he must die while fellow condemned prisoners look on in the Halton Hills Rec. Department Musical Theatre performance at the John Elliott Theatre.
