

Lock up your cars at night, police warn

By LISA TALLYN
Staff Writer

In light of the recent thefts from several vehicles in town over the past weeks Halton police are stressing area residents should take some precautions. Detective Sgt. Ron Welsh said people should lock their vehicles and any valuables are removed or at least hidden from sight.

"There may be some professionals involved in the thefts of stereos. People should take every precaution to make sure their car is secure, if possible put it in the garage with the door locked," said Welsh.

Welsh says there appears to have been a recent upswing in the number of thefts from autos.

"It's safer than breaking into someone's house. They know what's there; (in a house) they take a risk of being caught."

"Car stereos can be exchanged quite readily for cash," added Welsh.

Police are investigating series of vehicle break-ins

Halton police are investigating the theft of three stereo systems from cars in Georgetown sometime overnight Sunday.

Police report a Panasonic stereo system and CDs, valued at $2,400, were taken from a 1992 Chrysler parked on Hall Rd. that night. Entry was gained through a pried open passenger door. A Clarion stereo system valued at about $1,000 was stolen from a Dodge Shadow also parked at a Hall Rd. home.

That same night the door of a 1987 Suzuki was forced open and a stereo, clothing and tools were taken from it. Value of the missing property is estimated at $2,000.

Also overnight Sunday police say someone used a pry bar to try to enter a 1995 GMC van parked at a house on Hall Rd. A lock was damaged and glass was chipped. Damage is set at $1,500.

Halton police say golf clubs, valued at $1,200 were reported taken, from the box of a 1996 Ford pickup truck sometime between 7:30 and 10:30 p.m. Tuesday.
