J.S. JONES & SON FUNERAL HOME

A desire to offer help and comfort to area residents in a difficult time of their lives is been the main reason J. S. Jones and Son Funeral Home has become a Halton Hills mainstay.

Owner Philip B. Jones says he offers affordable and dignified funeral services and credits the golden rule for his success.

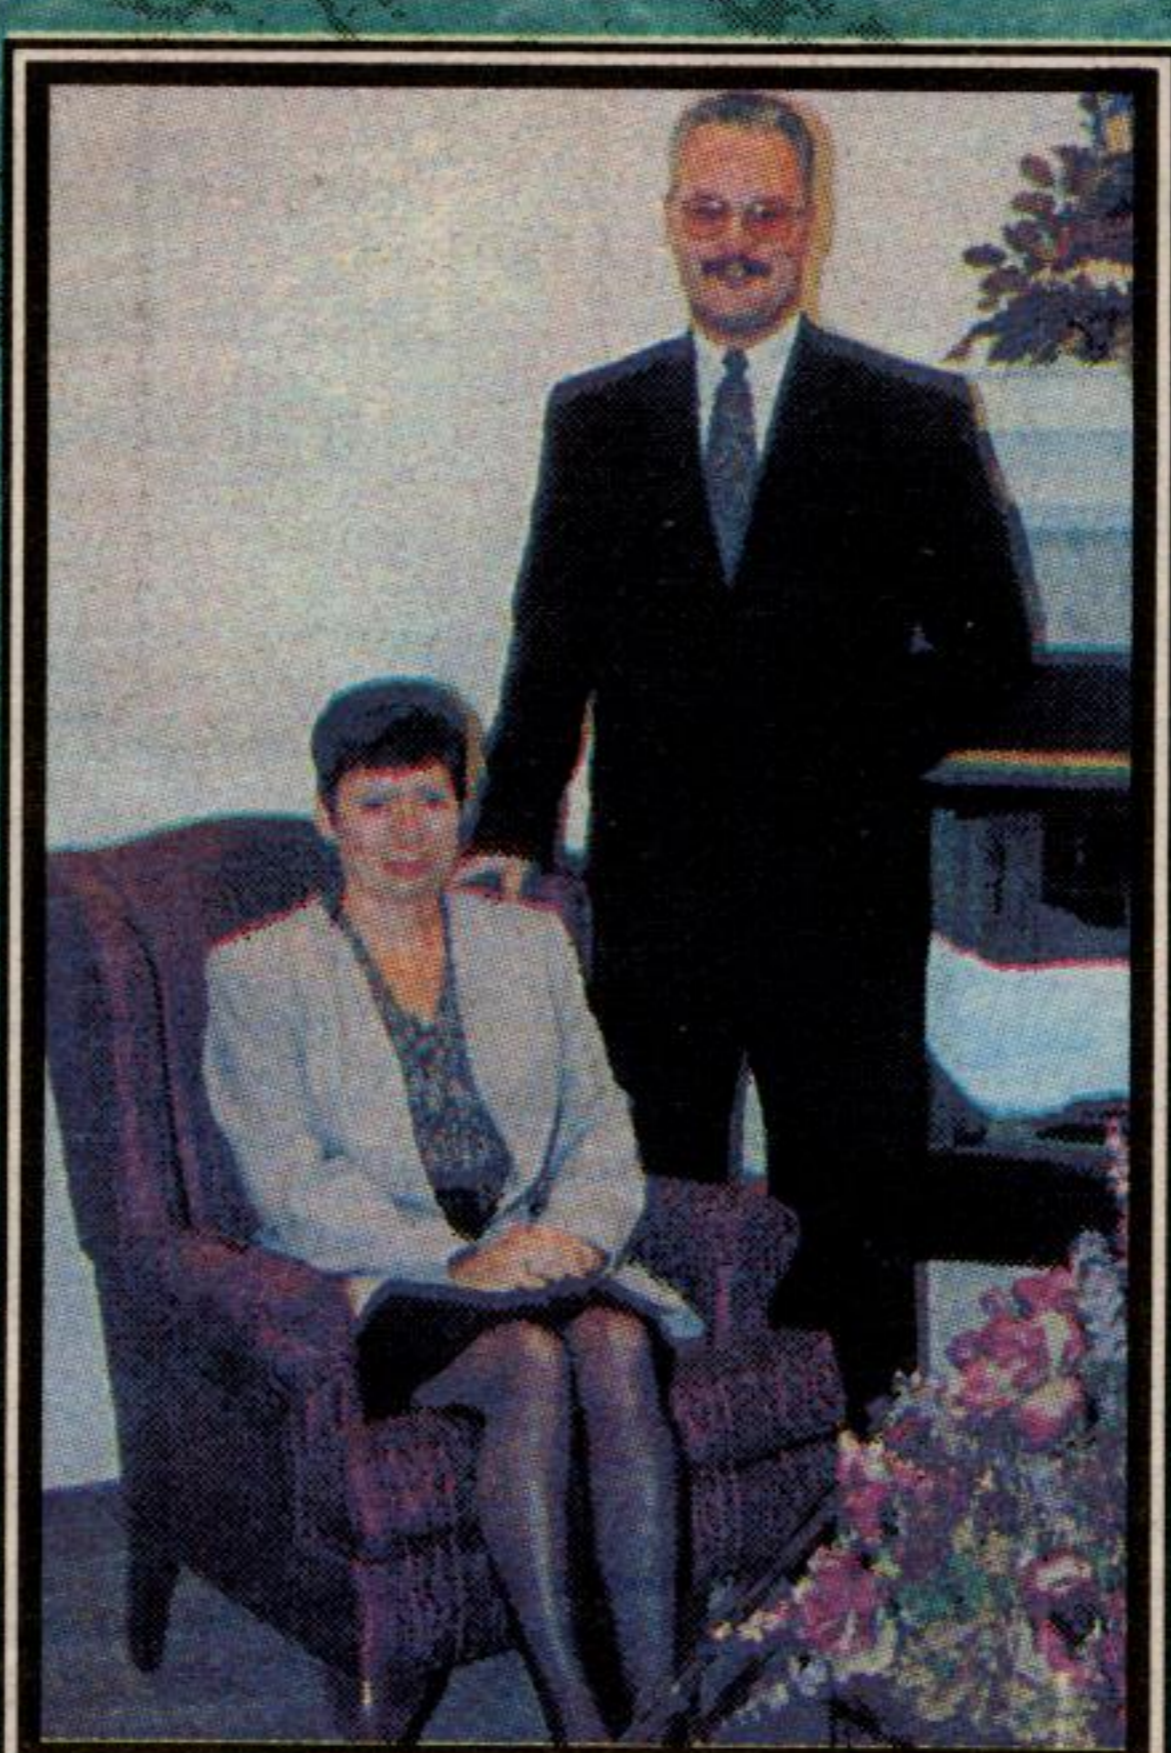

"Do unto others as you would have them do unto you," says Philip, who started working full time with his father in 1971.

He says that it is important to provide his staff with a rewarding atmosphere in which they can serve families and to also try and play a large part in the community through support of several agencies.

Jones Funeral Home has been in operation since the 1940s and moved to their current location at 11582 Trafalgar Rd. in 1985. There are six full time employees on staff.

"We have been serving Georgetown, Acton and area as an independent funeral home and our pledge is to continue this way of business in a helpful, sincere and professional manner," says Philip.
