Take a journey to Camelot

By GERRI SCHALJO Special

What happens when a feisty young princess is sent—for political reasons—to marry a king she has never seen? What happens when that king is so scared of the impending nuptials that he begs his court wizard to change him into a hawk? The answer is obvious—they fall in love and live happily ever after until....a good knight joins the court only to fall in love with the queen while at the same time holding a deep admiration for the king?

What happens when a twisted and intensely ambitious madman decides he wants to be king?

The answers to these and many other questions are found in Georgetown Globe's production of Camelot. Come and join in the magic and mystery that prevailed in the time of Arthur (Stephen Higgins), Guenevere (Lisa Sheppard), and Sir Lancelot (Ross Hanna).

Performances of Camelot are at 8 p.m. on November 28-30 and December 5-7, as well as matinees on Dec. 1 and 7 at 2 p.m. Contact the John Elliott Theatre box office in person or call 877-3700.

Hills of Erin studio tour this weekend and next

The Hills of Erin artists and craft persons invite you to their eight studios on Saturday and Sunday, Nov. 16 and 17, 23 and 24, 10 a.m. to 5 p.m.

Admission is free. Self-conducted tour maps are available at Erin House Gallery, and Georgetown Library or call (519) 855-4438.

What's up next?

The Georgetown Choral Society and Children's Chorus performed A Festival of Remembrance at Knox Presbyterian Church last Sunday. Previewing the music for Star over Bethlehem are front (from left) Glenda Wood, Jack Morrison, Dale Wood, Tom Schenk, Sharon Slaven. Back (from left) Melissa Drisdelle, Lyndsay Wood and Amy Wood. The choirs will perform the Christmas cantata, written by Wood, Nov. 29 at Holy Cross Church.

They don't make fries like they used to.
(thank goodness)

Finally, new fries at KFC. Crispy on the outside with great potato taste on the inside.

REAL MEALS. EASY AS KFC.
