Coffee house on Saturday

Gotta Travel On is the theme of a coffee house presented by Halton Hills Amnesty International group, this Saturday, April 12, 7:30 p.m. at St. John's United Church in Georgetown.

Jim Broughton, a charter Amnesty member, has lined up musical acts that will celebrate the joys and sorrows of riding that road to somewhere.

Local keyboard stylist Paul Thompson offers jazz and pop melodies influenced by Eric Clapton, Billy Joel, and more. The versatile trio of Grace Black, Donald Taylor and Jim Mowat sing a range of folk, jazz and blues.

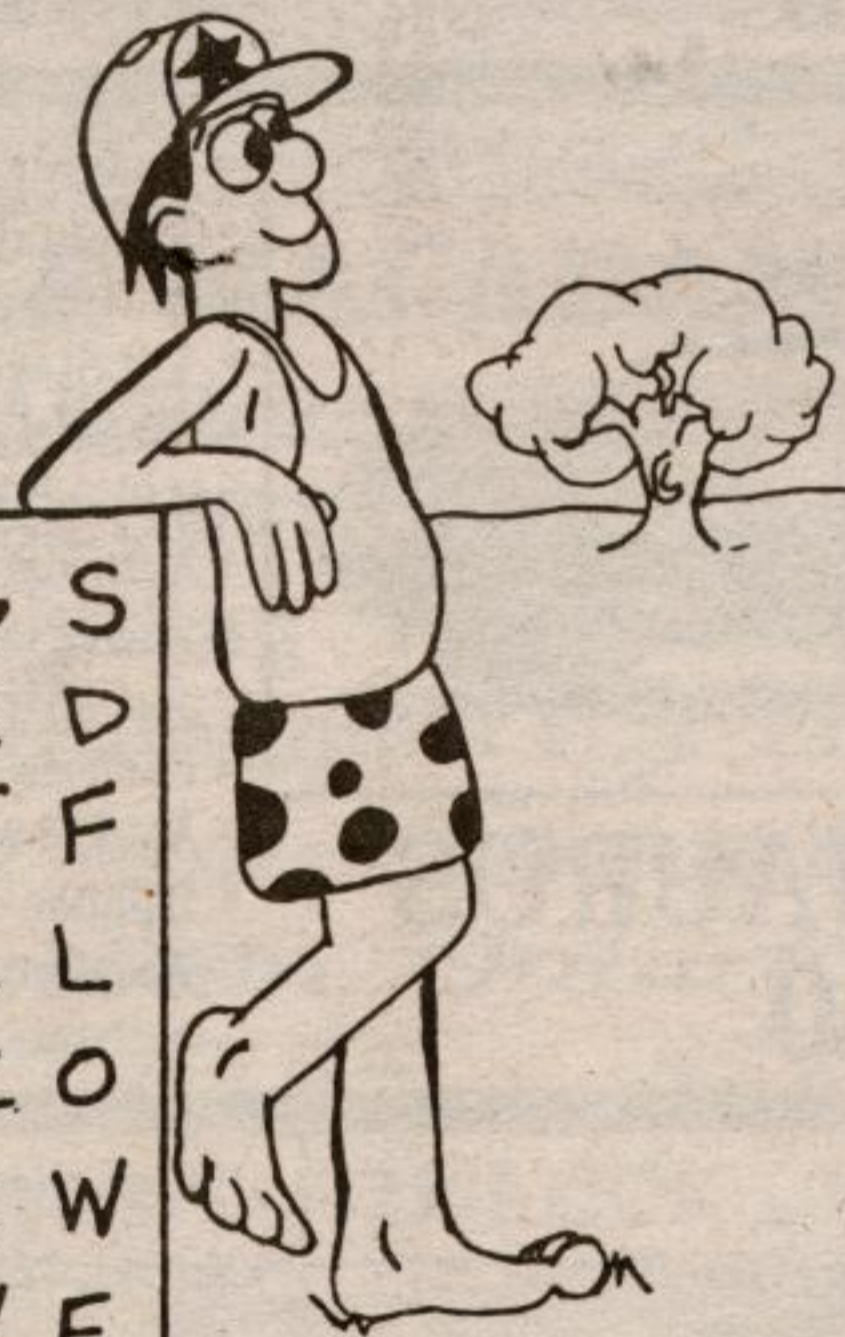

Guitar ace Brent Cooper is sure to enthral, as will Glen Williams duo Phil Lewin and Janice Gittings. And Broughton himself will provide a mix of Celtic melody, Stan Rogers favorites, and perhaps some humor as well.

Gotta Travel On is in keeping with Amnesty International's newest campaign on refugees. Amnesty International works for the release of prisoners around the world who are jailed because of their race, color, or beliefs, and who have never used nor advocated violence.

Admission at the Coffee House door will be $5, or $3 for seniors and students.
