

Tune your TVs to Kinsmen auction May 5

The Georgetown Kinsmen Club will be holding their 13th annual TV Auction on May 5. Once again this year over 150 items donated by generous local merchants from both Acton and Georgetown will go up for bids, 6-10:30 p.m.

Some of the items donated include a hot tub, a central air-conditioner, a Sea-Doo, a central vac system, many sets of Blue Jays tickets, a lawn mower and a mountain bike.

The auction is once again produced by Halton Cable Systems on its community station, Cable 14. Help this year comes from the newly formed Acton Kinsmen Club who are canvassing Acton merchants and helping in the studio the night of the auction.

Over the years over $75,000 has been raised by the Kinsmen for community service projects which include donations to the Georgetown and District Memorial Hospital, minor hockey, baseball, soccer, and lacrosse, the St. John's Ambulance, the local food bank, Seniors Tour of the Christmas Lights, talking books for the library, Cystic Fibrosis research and many, many more.

Look for the auction flyer in today's edition of the Independent & Free Press or browse the list on the internet at www.netrover.com/~randys/tauc.html

Also check out some of the items at a mall display in the Georgetown Marketplace Mall this week.

Hungry Hollow meeting

The Town Environmental Advisory Committee (TEAC) is hosting a public information meeting to discuss options to protect Hungry Hollow ravine, on May 6, 7 p.m. in the Civic Centre council chambers. Town council has asked TEAC to look into the possibility of designating Hungry Hollow as a Natural Heritage Area. TEAC will present its findings and welcomes ideas.
