Schools battle for book titles

Halton Hills Public Libraries recently hosted their 8th annual Battle of the Books. This library program is a fun way for children to "show off" their knowledge of children's literature, authors and titles.

The schools participating in the Junior Round Robin held on April 18 were Limehouse, Holy Cross, Pineview, St. Brigid, Glen Williams, George Kennedy, St. Francis and the Georgetown Homeschool Group.

The two teams with the highest scores were The Georgetown Homeschool Group and Pineview Public School.

On April 10, the following senior teams met for their Round Robin Battle: St. Brigid, Stewarttown, Holy Cross, The Georgetown Homeschool Group, McKenzie-Smith Bennett, and St. Francis Catholic School. The leading teams were Holy Cross Catholic School and Stewarttown Middle School.

The Grand Battle of the Books took place April 22. Two exciting battles were fought, one junior and one senior. While all who played are winners, the top scoring junior team was Pineview Public School and the top scoring senior team was Stewarttown Middle School.

These two schools will go on to represent Halton Hills Public Library at the regional Grand Battle to be held at St. Paul's United Church in Milton, today (May 7) at 1 p.m.
