Challenged youth are invited to special fun day

Halton Police Service is inviting developmentally and physically challenged youth to participate in the annual Special Friends Day set for Sunday, June 1 in Oakville. The event, which will be held at Appleby College on Lakeshore Rd. W., 10 a.m. to 3 p.m., brings together developmentally and physically challenged youth, aged 5 to 20, and members of the police, fire and ambulance services for non-competitive fun-filled activities. Participants can also watch training simulations and demonstrations from each service. Special Friends Day, presented by members and friends of Halton Regional Police Service, also includes a lottery with all profits going to Ontario Special Olympics. Anyone who knows of a "special friend" who would like to participate in the day should call Halton Police at 878-5511 ext. 4716 for more information.

Way of the Woods camp teaches kids about nature

The Halton Region Conservation Authority has a summer day camp that often leaves a lasting impression about nature on kids.

The Ways of the Woods day camp is available to children 8-12 years old.

Four, two-week and eight, one-week sessions are held during July and August with bus transportation included in the camp fee.

All participants are picked up at designated locations and are dropped off at various Halton Region conservation areas each day.

The base camp for Ways of the Woods program is the Mountsberg Wildlife Centre. Kelso, Mount Nemo and Crawford Lake Conservation Areas are also visited during the program.

Children discover nature through a series of games and activities that emphasize personal observations, listening skills, role playing, sharing and hands-on experiences. Pond explorations, insect hunts and bird hikes are only a few of these activities.

Bus transportation is available to residents of Milton and Halton Hills.

Outdoor recreational skills are also included in the program with such activities as archery, canoeing, caving and orienteering.

The students also gain a greater understanding of our cultural heritage by visiting the Crawford Lake Indian Village and participating in an archaeological dig.

A complete information brochure on the program is available by calling the conservation authority's administration office at (905) 336-1158.

The cost for the program is $125/week per child and the camp fills quickly.
