

'Being short' wins Limehouse student first place at public speaking contest

The North Halton Public Speaking contest was held recently in Milton at Our Lady of Victory School. This contest was sponsored by the Optimist Club of Georgetown. The Optimist Club has been supporting this competition for the past 26 years.

There were 10 contestants participating this year. The winners were: first, Kyle McKenzie, Limehouse School, topic (Being Short); second, Anna Burnett, Stewarttown Middle School, topic (...a word from our sponsor); third, Andrea Stockton, Our Lady of Victory, topic (My Version of Hockey).

The judges were: Ethel Gardiner, chair, Halton District School Board, Rick Chambers, past-president, Optimist Club of Georgetown and Larry Ciglen, Optimist member.

The speeches were well written and delivered, said an Optimist spokesperson. Each contestant received certificates recognizing their fine work. The winners received medallions.

North Halton Public Speaking award winners were front (from left), Kyle McKenzie (first), Anna Burnett (second) and Andrea Stockton (third). In back, presenting the award was Rick Chambers of the Optimist Club.
