

Connect to the community this weekend at the mall

Get connected to your community by visiting a display of 75 agencies and organizations offering services, activities and opportunities at the Georgetown Marketplace Mall Saturday, October 3 from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m.

The display is part of Halton Hills Public Library's Making Community Connections open house.

If you are interested in active living try finding out about the many sports, fitness and outdoor activity groups. Newly retired? Explore the seniors centres, the many needs for volunteers, the arts and culture scene. Need information or assistance? Stop by the Chamber of Commerce, or Halton Hills Community Support and Information or the town's municipal display.

Free draws, giveaways and games are added features at many booths.

Rotary hosts seniors' dinner

For the 44th year the Rotary Club of Georgetown will be hosting the Senior Citizens' dinner on Monday, October 26 at Holy Cross Hall at 6:30 p.m.

Club members will serve a roast beef dinner to all seniors, 70 years or older and their spouses or partners. They will be assisted by volunteers from the staffs of CIBC (Main St. branch), Royal Bank (Main St. and Guelph St. branches) and McDonald's. Also, St. John Ambulance Service will be on hand.

Emcee for the evening will be Paul Armstrong, a longtime friend of Rotary and the community. After-dinner entertainment will be the Georgetown Children's Chorus.

For registration and transportation call Rotarian Norm Bigg at 702-0013 or 877-6198. Please note space is limited and only the first 285 callers will be accepted.
