Police blotter

Man faces variety of charges

Halton Police have charged a Mississauga man with impaired driving, refusing to provide a breath sample, assault police and resist arrest after he was stopped by police at Guelph St. and Armstrong Ave. at about 11:30 p.m. Sunday.

Police say after the man was placed under arrest he began to fight with the officer. He was subdued and taken to the police station for the breathalyzer and began to fight again with police. An officer's hand was cut and sprained during the incident. Charged is William Glenn of Arista Way, Mississauga.

Vintage Chevy stolen

A 1967 Chevrolet valued at $20,000 was taken from a 15 Sideroad Halton Hills home sometime Monday night or Tuesday morning. Halton Police are investigating.

Stereo, jewelry taken from home

About $2,500 worth of stereo equipment and jewelry were taken from a Maple Ave. home Tuesday between 7 a.m. and 5 p.m. Entry was gained after the lock was pried open on the front door.

Golf clubs taken

Halton Police are investigating the theft of $4,000 golf clubs from an Eaton St. garage that occurred sometime between October 1 and 13.

Faces assault charge

A Georgetown man has been charged with assault in connection with an incident involving his wife that occurred in their Eaton St. home Wednesday about 11 p.m. Police say the couple argued and the victim said she was pushed. The 39-year-old man is to appear in court Nov. 23.
