Williams Mill open house Oct. 23-25

The Williams Mill Creative Arts Studios and Gallery invites the public to its only official open house this year—the fall festival, Behind the Mask.

The event opens with a reception to be held Friday, October 23, 7-10 p.m. throughout the complex of studios. The event's theme of disguise and concealment will be portrayed in many artistic media: glass, clay, wood, textiles, silver, paint, mixed-media, printmaking and drawing.

Features of this year's event are: a larger-than-life mask available for public interaction, demonstrations of specific artistic techniques, one of which is the making of clay masks by guest artist Helen LeJeune and guest musicians.

Artists will be working extended hours for the rest of the festival weekend: on Saturday, Oct. 24, 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. and Sunday, Oct. 25, 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. The exhibition in the Williams Mill Gallery continues until Sunday, November 22 during regular hours. Call (905) 873-8203 for further information.

Hot stuff!

A new exhibit, Scorched Earth, finishes this weekend at The Williams Mill Creative Arts Studios and Gallery. Artists, Wendy Cooper Melbye (right) and Fraser Forsythe (left) have collaborated on a collection of works in copper and clay, celebrating the dynamics of fire. Cooper Melbye is a painter and printmaker whose work in oil and encaustic is well known. Forsythe has been experimenting with raku and pit firing. The gallery is open Wednesdays to Sundays, noon to 5 p.m.
