Backyard space limited?
Investigate a
do-it-yourself shed

The design of outdoor storage sheds, say Canadian homeowners, requires extra precision when it comes to durability, practicality, and efficiency. Finding it all in one product however hasn't always been easy.

To that end, the newest design-innovations by Rubbermaid have addressed these storage priorities in two new ways:

1. The Split-Lid Shed— which offers 18 cubic feet of space and doubles as a work surface or table top. The left side can be opened, while the right side remains closed to serve as a work surface. Or, both lockable sides can be opened simultaneously.

This shed is ideal for the barbecue area.

2. The Slide-Lid Shed (5' x 6' 7" x 4' 6" high) supplies walk-in access via full-length, lockable, swinging doors. Easily accommodating as many as four bicycles, or a rear-engine riding mower, the Slide-Lid Shed has a sliding roof, double-wall insulation to prevent condensation, a strong structural foam floor to support heavy loads, and a sloped roof to prevent rain accumulation.

Both sheds are virtually maintenance free. They're built with a tough, durable, all-weather resin proven to be completely resistant to rust and rot. Look for them at all major retail and home-centre stores.
