

Georgetown's Philippe Gear (left) and pal Christopher Crookes enjoyed a special concert and tour of London last week after Gear won a contest sponsored by Molson Canadian.

Contest winner Rocks on in London

It was a party fit for the Queen of England, except she couldn't get on the invite list like Georgetown's Philippe Gear and friend Christopher Crookes, who were treated like royalty at the Molson Canadian Rocks Embassy party in London last week.

The pair joined 200 other Canadian grand-prize winners at the University of London's Union Pub who were flown in for an intimate concert with two British rock legends— Jimmy Page and Robert Plant of Led Zeppelin fame.

"I hadn't been on a vacation in three or four years. It couldn't have come at a better time," said Gear, who won the trip through a local bar promotion. "I was really surprised when they announced my name. This is the biggest thing I've ever won."

Other grand-prize winners from across Canada won the Molson Canadian Rocks Embassy trip through radio stations, bar promotions, MuchMusic, or by finding specially-marked bottles inside cases of Molson Canadian.

"What better way to celebrate being Canadian than to have the opportunity to act as an ambassador for your country while attending an exclusive concert in London?" asks Josie McGuire, Molson Canadian assistant brand manager.

All winners arrived in London early Thursday, did some sightseeing and caught the Page and Plant show on Friday and wrapped up their whirlwind visit on Saturday as guests at the official Canadian Embassy, where they were treated to a luncheon at Canada House in Trafalgar Square before their flights left for Canada Sunday.

"Canadians are welcomed with open arms in cities throughout the world," says Debra Davis, Counselor (Public Affairs), Canadian Embassy in London. "We thought it would be fitting to show some famous Canadian hospitality and welcome this group of 'ambassadors' to England with a special visit to Canada House."

Halton Hills Business Person...

ANNE SIDEBOTTOM

OCCUPATION: Executive Director of The Chamber of Commerce
RESIDES: Halton Hills
AMBITION: To increase our membership in order to strengthen our voice.

For the past three years Anne Sidebottom has been the Executive Director of Halton Hills Chamber of Commerce, coming to the Chamber with more than 10 years experience in association management.

Association Management is a profession unto itself. Although it may not be considered entrepreneurial in that we manage the business affairs of an organization for members not operating our own businesses, we are currently entrepreneurial in the delivery of our services in order to maintain and attract new members. The members are the very essence of the organization's existence which has represented business here since 1972.

As Executive Director my job has two main functions. One is to ensure that the business affairs of the association are managed in an effective professional manner. The other is to work with the Board of Directors and our committees in ensuring that the services provided to our members meets their needs. We endeavor to represent the business community promoting economic prosperity and sustainable development in Halton Hills. I have one full-time and one part-time staff who assist in the day to day operations of the Chamber.

Currently we have over 460 businesses as members, from which a volunteer Board of Directors is elected and various teams of active members assist in delivering our various programs and services. I very much enjoy working with the variety of business people in Halton Hills and anticipate each day's challenges and rewards in serving our business community.
