

*Doctors' coalition
tackles the environment
in weekend conference*

The Coalition of Ontario Doctors for the Environment (CODE) will be hosting a conference on Health and the Environment this Saturday (Nov. 21) at Halton Regional Building in Oakville.

CODE examines the environment and its health-related issues. It is a new organization working hand in hand with established environmental organizations and medical associations.

Registration will begin at 8:30 a.m. in the Auditorium of the Halton Regional Building (Hwy. 25 and Bronte Rd.).

The full day will include speakers and activities including keynote speaker, Dr. T. Schettler of Physicians for Social Responsibility.

Topics addressed by other speakers include Pesticides and health and children; Great Lakes: Health effects of industrial pollutants; effluents and toxins; How to avoid products that contain hormonal disruptors; Level of contamination in food and breast milk; Food chain effects; Health care without harm.

Activities begin at 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. If you plan to attend, RSVP 878-8029.

Introducing...

The Independent Friday Edition & Free Press

Coming to your doorstep this Friday... our NEW Friday Edition of The Independent & Free Press. Filled with local columnists, recipes, human interest stories and savings from merchants to make it easier to plan your weekend shopping.
Look for it this Friday!

LOOK FOR FLYERS FROM THESE MERCHANTS IN FRIDAYS PAPER

- A&P
- BRIANS FOOD BASICS
- CANADIAN TIRE
- HALTON HILLS IGA
- LOBLAWS

The Independent Friday Edition & Free Press

COMING TO YOUR DOORSTEP THIS FRIDAY!