St. George's Glen estates - a classic of their own

By: SHARON JAMES
Special to New Homes

There are more than just your regular luxury features to be found at Georgetown's St. George's Glen prestigious estates, these homes truly captivate the aura of grace, style and elegance. This distinctively set, remarkable community displays a rich ambiance of 51 estates built on 2 and 2.4 acre lots, surrounded by beautiful landscape and natural beauty. The exquisite, rich architectural details are a reflection of the quality features and elegant style that St. George's Glen homeowners have come to expect from Ballantry Homes.

This new quaint community is blessed with an abundance of natural resources on Bruce Trail and near Silver Creek Conservation, where you'll find trails for hiking, biking and cross country skiing, only further enhances the natural beauty and tranquility of up-country living.

Each manor home is thoughtfully planned and designed, giving each home individual character and each customer the personal service they need to make their home a perfect match for them. At St. George's Glen, every estate is guaranteed with quality craftsmanship and detail. In fact, because of their reputation of being top quality builders, it is no wonder they have become such a success in Georgetown.

These manor homes include many quality crafted, custom details that add to their beauty and charm. Exteriors feature clay brick designs, soldier coursing, brick arches, keystones and sills, gorgeous casement windows on first, long driveways and second floor and the car garage.

Traditional style continues throughout the interior with 9 foot ceilings on main floor, ceramic tile in foyer, main hall, kitchen, bathrooms and main floor laundry room, vaulted ceilings and decorative columns, gas fireplace with wood mantle and marble surround and exquisitely designed oversized shower stalls in master ensuite bathroom, just to name a few.

If this sounds too good to pass, you'd better hurry because there are only two lots left. The Kensington, featured on a
