

An eye for art

Local artist Ruth Gibson and her photographer husband Tom check out some of the 45 pieces of their work on display at the Gallery of the Cultural Centre. Tom's photographs and Ruth's oils and pastels depict numerous scenes from Northern Ontario. The show and sale runs until Sunday, November 29.

Pajama Game a fun night out

The show is filled with clichés out of the 50s and the costumes are garish and colorful.

Sets are spartan and colorful, but quite honestly, one can only stand the pink and turquoise color scheme for so long. Lighting is effective and set changes are made smoothly on the go. The show also features some interesting knife throwing special affects.

Musical accompaniment was well balanced, never overpowering the vocals, while maintaining an upbeat tempo.

The Pajama Game certainly gives a night of spirited entertainment, and although it's not Globe's best to date, one certainly won't be disappointed in seeing it.

The show continues this week.
