“THOUGHT FOR THE WEEK”

Roger Crawford, motivational speaker and tennis player - although he has only three fingers and an amputated leg - tells people, “You miss 100 percent of the shots you don't take.” Not even the greatest athletes in the world, regardless of their sport, ever hit 100 percent of the shots they take. But they still keep taking them, even when they know they can't be perfect. Are you missing some shots in life simply because you aren't taking them? Get those goals written down today, and start taking some shots you haven't been taking.
