Local singer up for award

Heather Smith of Georgetown has been nominated for an Ontario Country Music Award.

Country/rocker Smith has been nominated as female vocalist of the year. She performed at the awards last year, and is slated to perform again this year on April 18.

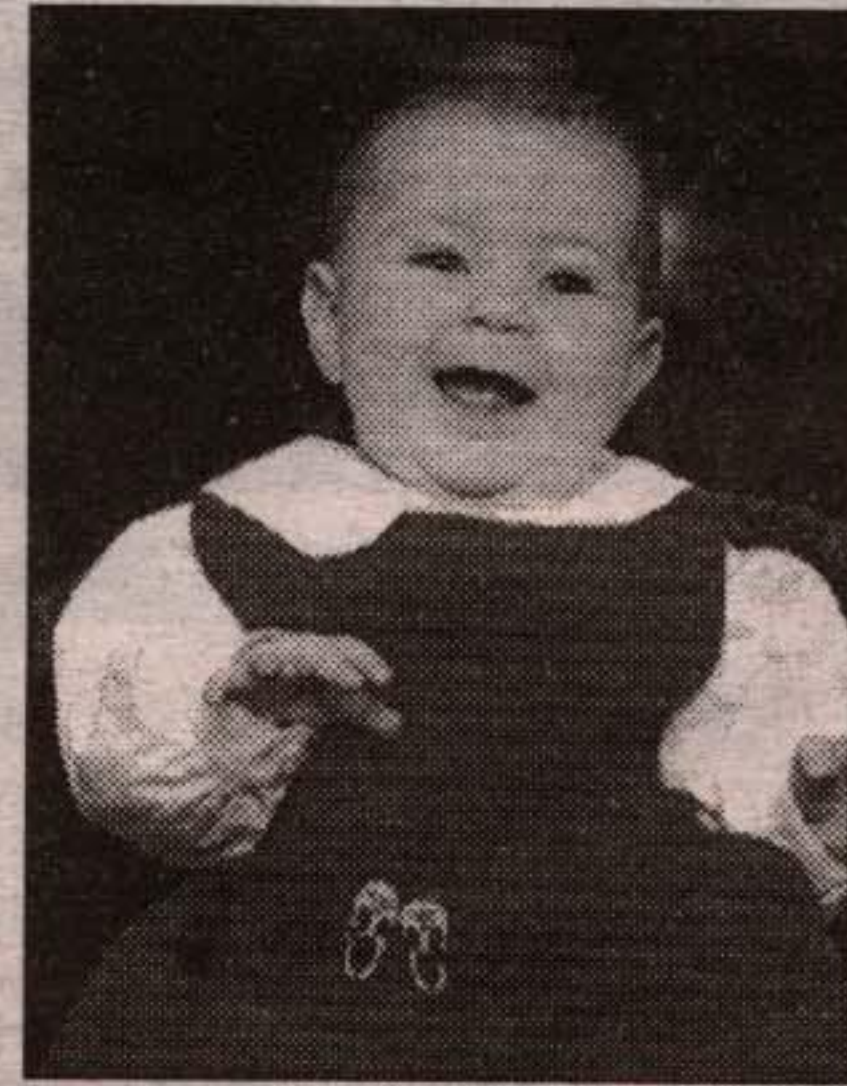

The country/rocker, released two singles in 1994, and an 11-song CD "The Rules" last year.

This month Smith is to be in Korea to perform in an invitation-only event in Taejon and Seoul and the past six years the singer has represented Canada in that country, including during Expo '93. Last year Smith played the Pacific Basin Nuclear Conference in Banff and in 1995 she was the opening act at a Kim Mitchell concert.

Her CD is receiving airplay on 78 stations across the U.S., and has been featured on several Canadian stations.
