Picture a family with a chronically ill child, the care of the child at home, day after day, for years, family having to face the death of the child. This usually ends in burnout; for even the most loving parents eventually become exhausted.

Now picture the same family in a comfortable indoor pool, lovely outdoor gardens and a place to explore. A place where the parents can relax and doctors and nurses to give the family the support the child to participate in. Anything is possible.

You can help this dream come true. The saying is so true "Children still require possible." And one never knows who will be the Home.

Lets help make the final days as comfortable as possible they and their families need a break.

Rose Che
