Tricks of the Trade

Finding employment in this day and age can be a discouraging experience for any student. There are, however, a few tricks to keep in mind in order to better your chances of getting a rewarding summer position.

First, don't forget about the Odd Job Squad. These jobs may only last for a few days but the contacts that you make on these jobs could lead, and have led, to full time positions. As well, a student who does a good job may be asked to come back again and again as a happy employer tries to find more work for them to do. It may even lead to further positions from the employer's friends and family.

Secondly, try not to give up hope after visiting the centre only once or twice. New jobs come in all the time and therefore, so must the job-seeking student. Another thing to keep in mind when looking for a summer job is the 80-20 rule. Only 20% of all available jobs will ever be advertised, the rest must be uncovered by the resourceful job seeker. Remember it is called a job HUNT for a reason, finding a job is a challenge and you have to be up to it. The jobs are out there, you just have to find them so be creative.

Thirdly, remember that the Summer

Employment Officers (SEOs) are here to help you out. If you want help fixing or creating a resume or cover letter just ask and we'd be glad to offer you the assistance you need. Running it by an impartial (and not to mention trained) third party could help save you a lot of time and wasted effort. Making a good impression is about the proper marketing of your relevant skills and we can help you put them into perspective. After all, that's what we're here for - our job is helping you find one and we'll do whatever we can to ensure you get a fair shot. So drop by, check out our current listings, bring us a resumé, and join the Odd Job Squad. Who knows, this could still be the greatest summer yet!
