Amy Garbutt
Joseph Gibbons

AMY GARBUTT

Amy's strengths are apparent in all aspects of school life. She is a model citizen who seeks opportunities to help others. Amy values learning. She takes pride to refine her work and often extends classroom topics more fully. Amy is enthusiastic in her role as a technology coach for primary students and as a reading buddy. Amy's responsible nature and citizenship skills extend beyond the school day, as she is involved in 4H club, Girl Guides and house league baseball.

Chris Darling
Limehouse

CHRIS DARLING

Chris, a Grade 5 student at Limehouse Public School, is a fine example of student excellence. In the community he is involved as both a rep hockey player and a rep soccer player. He demonstrates excellent sportsmanship and leadership in both intramural and extramural activities. He is involved in all school activities, from helping in the office to safety patrol on the bus. No matter what the request, Chris is always willing and able to

Joe Brunelle
McKenzie-Smith Bennett

JOE BRUNELLE

A kind, dedicated and enthusiastic Grade 8 French immersion student, Joe has a passion for athletics and academics. He is described as "a teacher's dream." An intelligent, mature student, he is eager to participate and looked up to by his peers. Joe's long list of extra-curriculars includes track and field, senior boys football, basketball and co-captain of the volleyball team. Joe was chosen for this award for his determination and perseverance in pursuit

Jesse Montgomery
Park

JESSE MONTGOMERY

Jesse's superior academic proficiency is only one of the reasons she was selected as Student of Excellence. "She has a super touch with others," says Wendy Harrison, principal. "She is gentle, kind and considerate." She adds the other children recognize and admire her qualities. Jesse's respect for others epitomizes Park's "I care" philosophy. She participates in all the extra-curricular activities offered at Park, as well as community activities.

Alyse McHaffie
Pineview

ALYSE MCHAFFIE

Alyse has demonstrated outstanding leadership and citizenship qualities at Pineview. Her participation in a variety of activities; team sports, library helper, lunch monitor, bus monitor and reading buddy as well as her strong academic growth make Alyse a wonderful role model for her peers. "This is my first year at Pineview and it has been a real pleasure getting to know Alyse. Her happy personality and cooperative nature have made her a delight with all the staff,"

Matthew Hanselman
Robert Little

MATTHEW HANSELMAN

Matthew was selected because he represents the kind of student Robert Little values. He has demonstrated outstanding qualities in academics and extra-curricular activities. Matthew is helpful, trusted and a good role model for younger students. He has a good rapport with peers and adults. "This is Matt's first year here, and we're glad he's here in Acton," says principal Don Warren. "He's been a very successful student."

Thomas O'Sullivan
Stewarttown

THOMAS O'SULLIVAN

Tom has top grades within a challenging French Immersion program, athletic ability, leadership skills, artistic and musical talents. He is an honor student, a member of the jazz and concert bands, the decorators club, lighting crew, cross country and intramural teams and is a Student Council rep for his class. His quiet enthusiasm, kindness, reliability and willingness to help has earned him the respect of classmates, peers, staff and students.

Allison Dwyer
St. Brigid

ALLISON DWYER

Principal Cynthia Tobin has nothing but praise for Allison. She describes her as a quiet leader, who is subtle and doesn't look for thanks in her leadership role. Allison is described as a child who gives of herself, volunteering to help those who are struggling. She is an office helper, a classroom helper, and lends a hand in all areas of the school. Well liked by her peers and respected by the staff, "we're proud that she's a student at St. Brigid because she exemplifies everything St. Brigid's stands

Evan Loreto
St. Francis of Assisi

EVAN LORETO

Evan demonstrates strong Catholic leadership skills in his role as vice-president of the St. Francis School Council. His faith and leadership skills are evident in his everyday activities. He consistently demonstrates an attitude of genuine warmth and caring towards his fellow students. He is an excellent athlete who demonstrates fair play and commitment to hard work and team spirit. He is a deserving recipient of the Sharing the Spirit

Kristina Verlingo
St. Joseph

KRISTINA VERLINGO

Kristina, a Grade 8 student, is active in many facets of the school including student government and assisting to help organize events for the other students such as dances, play days and dress-up days. Principal Jim McGeragle says "she's always an extremely polite young lady, absolutely delightful. She is very enthusiastic, yet unassuming." He adds that Kristina well represents St. Joseph's, and "exhibits the Catholic values we want to represent in our system."

ORFF MUSIC PROGRAM
Creative Movement
music for minors
An Offshoot of the Orff Schulwerk
This exciting music program is a holistic approach to music education. Through activities in instrumental play, singing, movement and speech, the child is encouraged to develop an understanding of musical concepts and then to use these skills in a personal and creative way. Co-operation with peers and ensemble playing are an integral part of this program. Music For Minors is sure to capture your child's interest in music and help pave the way to independent musicianship!
