School of Dance performs Lots of energy in Hansel

Approximately 200 students of the Halton Hills School of Dance recently performed four consecutive shows of Hansel and Gretel and other pieces at the John Elliott Theatre.

Record number audiences were treated to many levels of energy in the glitzy jazz numbers and loud applause followed the beginners' tap routine which this year included males.

Jingo, a tap number, resembled a combination of Stomp and Tap Dogs and was thunderously received.

The ballet, Hansel and Gretel, involved naughty swallows that ate up the bread trail, leaving the children lost and alone until the Sandman arrived to entertain them and sprinkle sleepy dust into their eyes. As the children fell asleep, 14 ethereal angels appeared on pointe, to guard them and provide a moving end to the first act.

The second act opened to the Dew Fairy's dance, accompanied by her Sprites. The colorful and tempting house loomed to entice the children to pull off pieces of sugar cane which they greedily devoured while the house watched.

The ugly witch then appeared using her cute Tooty Fruity candies to help capture Hansel. The house then reverted to a macabre scene of cages, creepy crawlies and a previous victim's skeleton.

Gretel managed to trick the witch and push her into an oven to cheers from the audience. The smoke and special effect flames all added to the drama.

Celebrations then erupted, freeing gingerbreads from their fate, and reuniting children with their parents.

Congratulations to principal Yvonne Oldaker, teachers, students, volunteers and parents for a professional and memorable performance.
