

Georgetown Fall Fair to be bigger and better

The 153rd edition of the Georgetown Fall Fair set for this weekend will offer something for everyone.

Doris Calder, entertainment director for the fair, said more than 10,000 people attended last year's fair and organizers are expecting more people this year. She said this year fair-goers will find many of the traditional favorite events from past years but this year's midway, provided by Funland Midway, should be better than ever.

"We are excited to welcome a bigger and better midway this year," said Calder.

Popular events like the Truck-Tractor Pull at 7 p.m. on Friday night and the Demolition Derby at 7 p.m. Saturday "are always exciting for the whole family and a huge success."

As in the past, fair-goers can take in a variety of horse shows including the Halton 4-H Heavy Horse Club Achievement Day Friday at 7 p.m., on Saturday the Hunter Schooling Show at 9 a.m. and the Western Horse Point Award Show at 9:30 a.m. and on Sunday the Heavy Horse Show at 10 a.m. and Light Horse Show and Pony Show at noon.

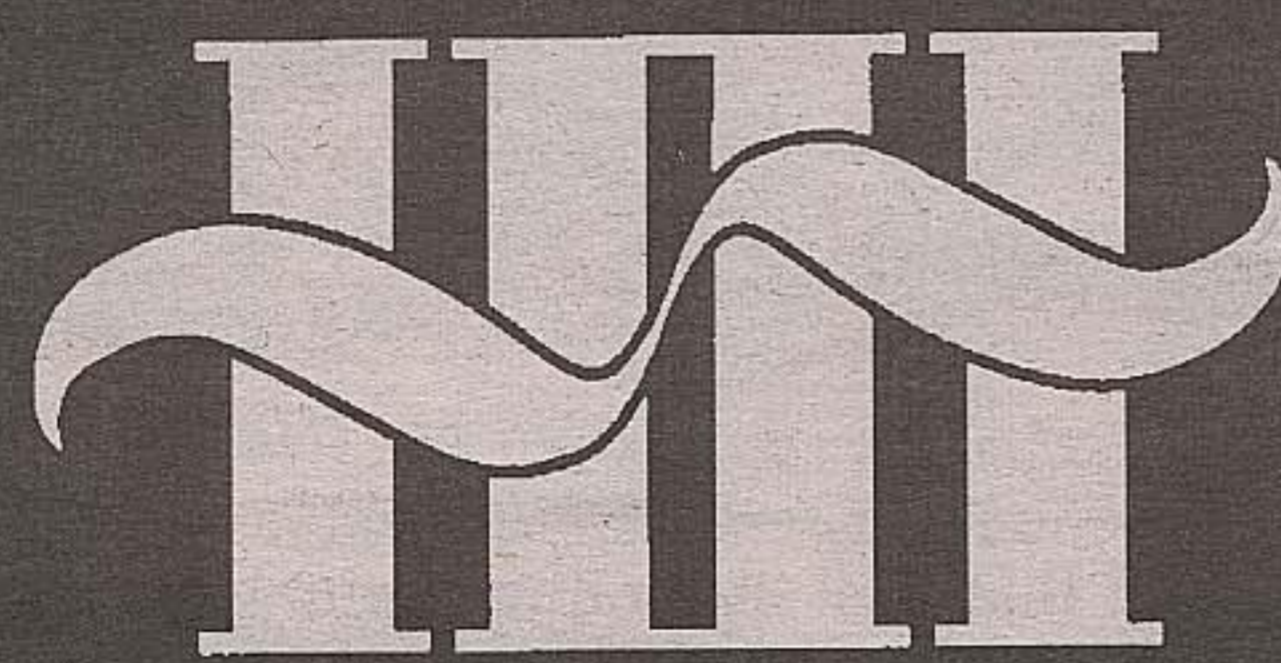

"We're expecting a good turnout and competition in the horse shows this year," said Calder.

On Friday, the midway opens at 4 p.m. Other events include the Georgetown Fair Ambassador Competition at 6 p.m. Friday, Halton 4-H Rabbit Club Achievement Day at 9 a.m. Saturday, Junior Dairy Show at 11 a.m. Saturday, Pet Show and Halton 4-H Sheep Club Achievement Show at noon Sunday, Kiddie Pedal Tractor Pull at 1 p.m. and Halton 4-H Beef Fitting Achievement Show at 1:30 p.m., both on Sunday.

Admission is $6 for adults Saturday and Sunday and $5 on Friday. Children aged 7 to 12 get in for $3 every day and children 6 and under are admitted free. A weekend pass is available for $12 per person.

The Georgetown Fall Fair midway will be sure to please again this year.
