Library changes preschool sign-up

Halton Hills Public Libraries have changed their preschool program registration system.

Registration will be on Monday, Sept. 20, between 3-8 p.m. — by phone in only.

Programs at both programs will be registered through the Georgetown branch, 873-2681 or 873-2601, ext 288.

There will be a greater number of preschool sessions this fall. The Georgetown branch will offer two Baby Tales, two Tales for Twos and three Preschool Storytimes. The Acton branch will offer one Tales for Twos and three Preschool Storytime sessions. All programs will begin in October.

Registration is conditional upon the completion of a registration form, accompanied by proof of age, which must be returned to the library by Sept. 25. If you are registering children other than your own, have their ages and telephone numbers ready— a maximum of four children can be registered.

For more information drop into either branch for a copy of the fall brochure or call 873-2681.

Author Series starts soon

The Libraries' Three Author Series begins with William Bell on Sept. 23 at 7 p.m. at the Georgetown branch. Bell writes for youths including Five Days of the Ghost and Forbidden City. Tickets available at the library or at co-sponsor, The Freckled Lion.

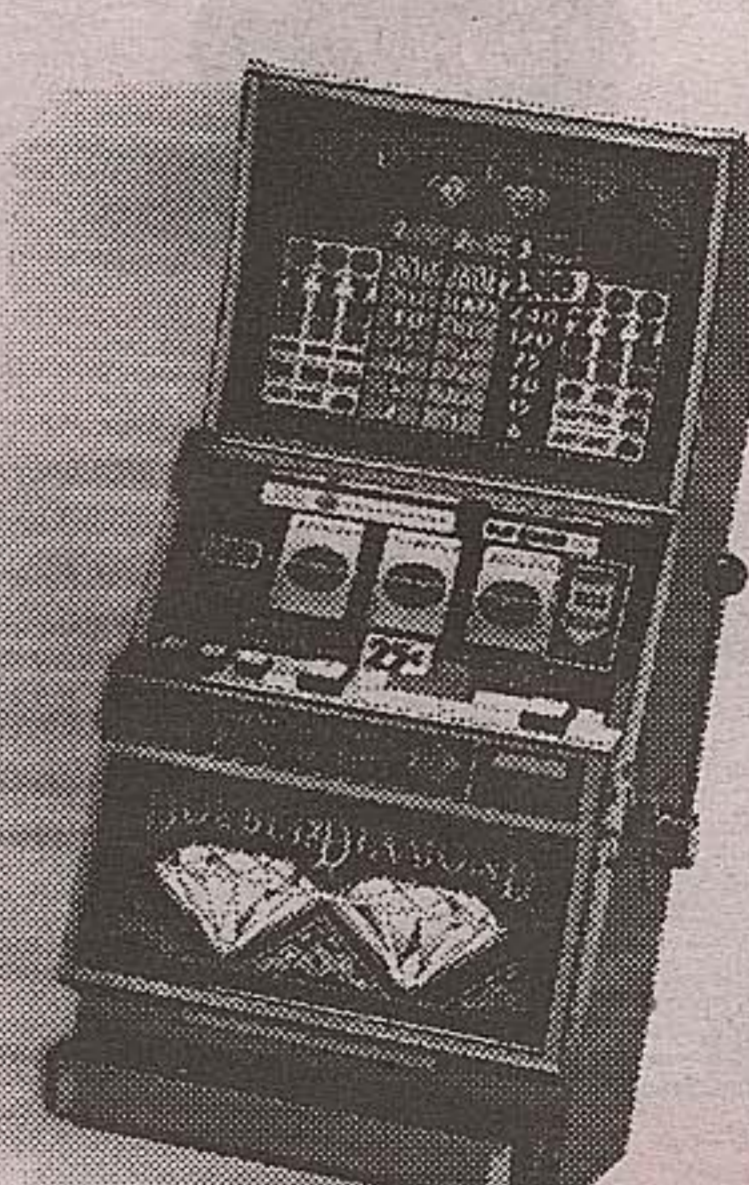

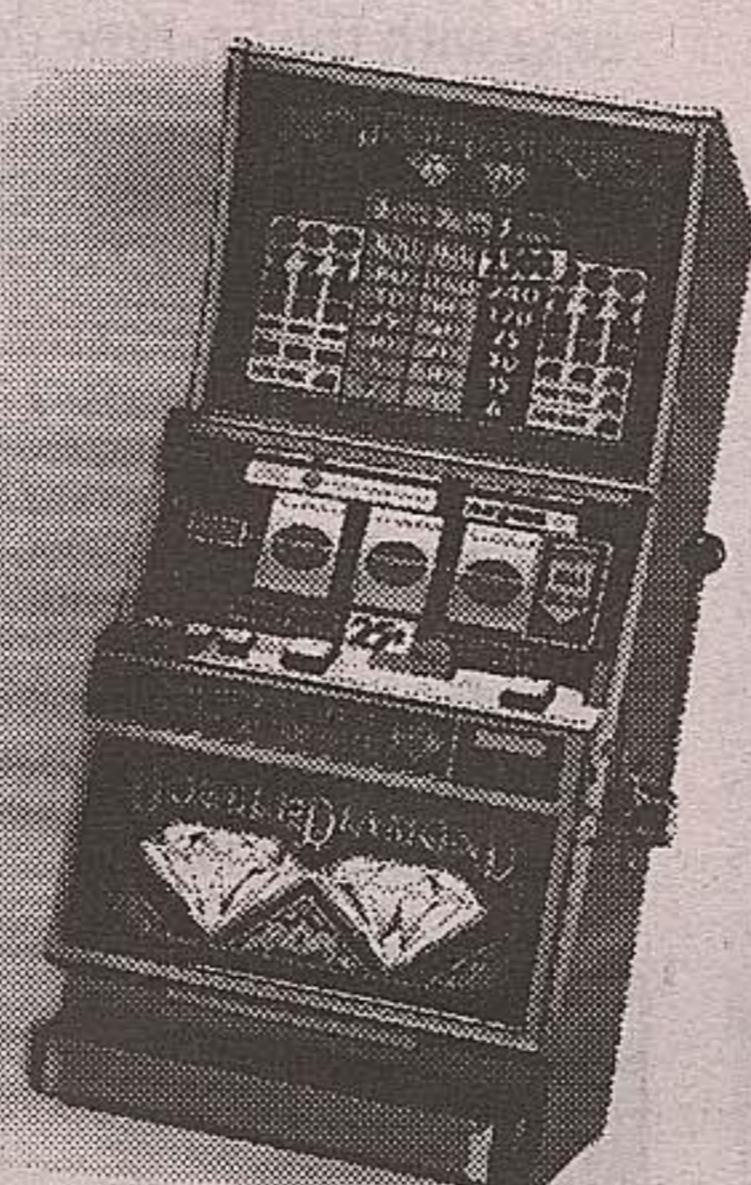

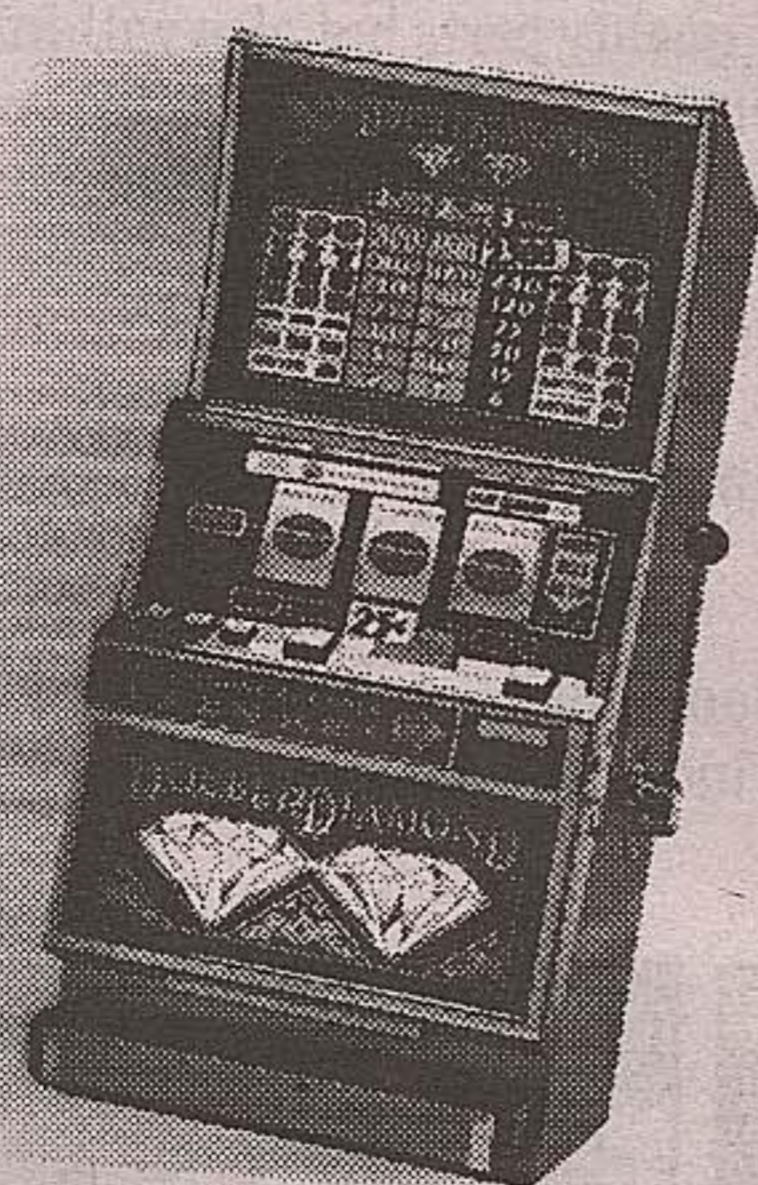

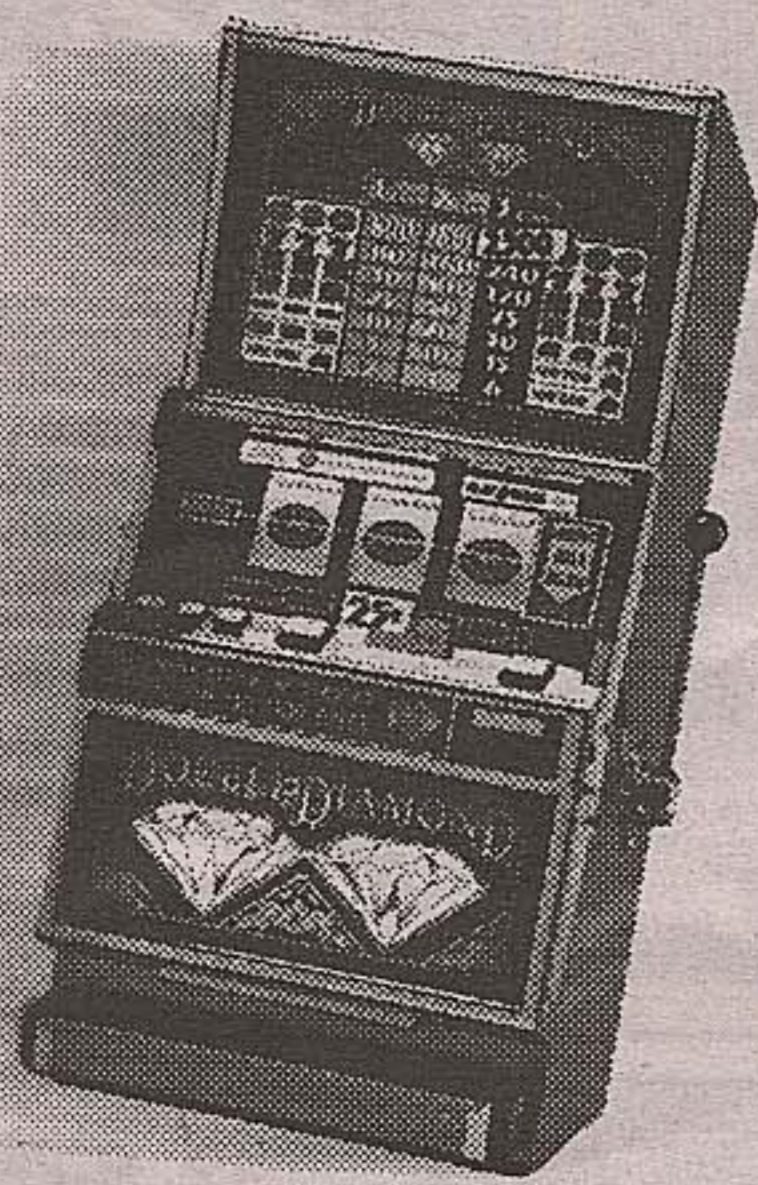

Reaching for the sky

Although Ivy King has had a green thumb in her flower beds and garden for years, this year marked the first time she ever grew sunflowers, which managed to stretch 14 feet in the air behind her Temple Street home where she's lived for the past 48 years.
