

A time to reach for our destiny

Lest we forget. There are few veterans left from the great wars. Even adults who lived through those times are dwindling to a precious few.

Those who actually sweated, bled, and anguished during those wars; those who wore Canada stitched on their uniform sleeve, still march, still remember fallen friends, still keep alive the memory of those times.

We in Canada have chosen to forget. No, we haven't forgotten the sacrifice. We haven't forgotten the heroism of our veterans. We will never forget Vimy Ridge, Dieppe or Juno Beach. No, it's our greatness we have forgotten.

Prime Minister Louis St. Laurent said the 20th century would belong to Canada. It was a statement of purpose, a manifesto for our emerging greatness as a nation. By 1945 few doubted St. Laurent's prediction.

Seeing ourselves as a nation apart for the first time during the Great War, we created our own heroes, we defined our place in the world and our values as Canadians. By the end of the second world war we were on the verge of national greatness. We contributed far beyond our population in war, yet we wanted only peace.

We had all this vast land at our disposal. We had spanned a continent. Canadian accomplishments in engineering, communications, construction and in the arts gave credence to St. Laurent's prediction.

QUEEN'S PARK REPORT

Ted Chudleigh

Since that time we have become timid. We have fretted about regionalism. We have failed to make good on St. Laurent's prediction.

It is time we, as Canadians, tried to understand where we went wrong. It is time to be bold. It is time to sweep aside our factional fighting, our regionalism and our fears, and do those things that are necessary to give Canadians the opportunity to make this country everything it should be.

We need to wrap up the national debates on taxation, health care, education, and regionalism. We have to build a framework which allows people to make choices, not empower government to provide those choices to everyone.

We need to stop trying to find easy ways around personal responsibility.

We need to take charge of our national agenda. We need to remember the greatness our forebearers provided us through their blood, sweat, fear and effort.

We need to stand on the shoulders of those giants of Canadian history and reach for our destiny.

"Easing the Hurt"

with

Dr. Paul Zeni

and the Halton Hills Resource Team

You are invited to an information evening for caregivers, family, and those involved with life-threatening illnesses.

Wednesday November 17, 1999

Young's Pharmacy and Homecare Seminar Room

47 Main Street South, Downtown Georgetown

Program 7:00 PM

Information Exchange, Refreshments

Call 877-2711 for information and registration.

Co-operatively sponsored by

Halton Hill Palliative Care Resource Team and

Young's Pharmacy & Homecare and Medical Centre Pharmacy pharmacists.

Please recycle this newspaper

Downtown Spa & Relaxation Centre

Georgetown's Only Unisex Aesthetic/Fitness Spa

Left to right: Wayne, Jamie, Suzanne, Dorri, Aspasia, Vanessa and Ryan.

Receive 50% Discount on Your First Hair Appointment with "Wayne" our Master Hairstylist

NEW
Seniors Day
Monday
Teen Day
Tuesday
20% Discount

Millennium Madness

Artificial Nails	$25.00
Make-Up Application	$25.00
Pedicure	$25.00
Add 30 minute Reflexology Massage	$45.00
Time Saver Facial	$25.00
Wash/Cut and Style	$25.00
Manicure, Make-Up Application and Hair Style	$60.00
20 Minute - Shoulder/Neck/Back Massage	$24.00
Gentleman's Hair Cut	$15.00
Men's Manicure	$15.00

BUY ANY 4 OF ANY SERVICE, RECEIVE 5th FREE!
Christmas Spa Packages & Gift Certificates Available
Unlimited Tanning for December & January $35.00 a month

Front left to right: Jessica, Jamie
Back left to right: France, Val

Great Gift Suggestion

Introducing our NEW "Gold Card"
Pay $250, receive $300 worth of Services
Pay $500, receive $600 worth of Services

Left to right: Cathy, Dorri, Carole, Jill and Jessica

Warm up with a Complimentary Hot Tub Session when booking 1/2 hour or 1 hour massage with "Ryan" our R.M.T. (Registered Massage Therapist)

Learn the latest dance craze!

"Swing",
Jive, Rock-n-Roll

4 Week Session
starts Wed. Nov. 17
& Fri. Nov. 19

$25.00/person

Beginner & Intermediate classes

OPEN HOUSE

Saturday Nov. 13th
9am - 4 pm

ENTER OUR DRAW for a "Spa Day" to be drawn at 4 p.m. by Mayor Marilyn Serjeantson

- Aestheticians
- Massage Therapist
- Hair Stylist
- Skin Care Representative
- Reflexologist
- Dance/Fitness Instructor will be on hand for Free Treatments & Consultations

Jennifer - Fitness Instructor

Dance/Fitness Winter Session Begins January 10th

Missing from pictures: Peggy, Nicole, Heather and Andrea.

36 Main Street South, Downtown Georgetown 873-4907