

Emergency crews did a great job!

Emergency service workers and volunteers quickly responded during the train and gravel truck collision, and "did our Town proud". The response in this community was phenomenal.

I thank everyone for all their hard work and compassion. I talked to many of the train passengers and staff, and I know that they are very appreciative and grateful for the action and care that was given to them. Again, I would like to thank everyone for all their expertise, care, and commitment. The experience proved that if there is a need, our community workers and volunteers can rally to do the job.

The councils for the Region of Halton and the Town of Halton Hills have supported pilot community safety zones on our roads. Fines will be higher for moving violations, and the level of enforcement will be accelerated.

Locations of special concern for public safety are in Georgetown: Maple Avenue between Trafalgar Rd. and Guelph St.; Mountainview Rd. between Eden Place and Campbell Gate; Delrex Blvd., from Sargent Rd. to Mountainview Rd. S., and in Acton: Mill St. W., from Victoria St. to Duby Rd. In some locations the signs are already in place. I again emphasize that community safety is the prime motivator for this traffic management program.

acknowledged the sacrifices that our veterans and their comrades made for our precious Canadian freedom.

The refurbishing of the park (the Remembrance Park Millennium Project) will be a fitting tribute to the sacrifices of the past and a monument of peace for the future. I know that the committee is working extremely hard and with your help the project will be a success.

The book launch of The Halton Living History Book at the Indigo book store in Burlington was wonderful. It is a book full of history that bridges the gap between the young and the mature; a celebration for the International Year of the Older Person. Local seniors interviewed include: George Elliott, Edward Gorth, Kathleen Hurst, Jean Layman, George Lee, Mac Sprowl, Siena van Hoekelen, Joan Waldie and Lew Ward. Their student interviewers were: Ryan Stroud, Beth Clayton, Katie Pointner, Rachel Boyd, Lindsey McIntyre, Courtney Jones, Sara Costa, Laura Stevenson, Sarah Cabana, Andrea Break, Chad Neville and Christine Albert. Copies will be available at both libraries.

See you at the Santa Claus Parade in Acton on Saturday!
