BUYING A HOUSE?

- After you've decided exactly what you're looking for in a new home, such as location, size, features and price range, consider using an agent. An agent offers you free representation and expertise.
- When you've found your dream house, have it gone over thoroughly by a qualified inspector to check mechanical systems, such as heating, cooling and electrical, and to determine if there are any structural problems or insect damage.
- Check out school districts, zoning codes, utility providers, and property taxes.
- An agent can help you with all aspects of buying your home, technical and otherwise. Make your biggest investment a successful and rewarding one by calling an experienced agent today.
