Firearms licence required by December 31

Under the Firearms Act everyone must have a licence to possess or acquire a firearm by December 31.

Two licences are available— a possession-only licence and a possession-and-acquisition licence. Both licences are renewable every five years. To get a possession-only licence a person doesn't need to pass the Canadian Firearms Safety Course but to obtain a possession-and-acquisition licence they are required to pass the course.

Anyone who has firearms but doesn't plan to get any more needs to apply for the possession-only licence.

If a person has firearms or not, but plans to acquire them, he must obtain a possession-and-acquisition licence, which allows them to buy firearms or receive them as gifts, inheritance or in trade.

Renewal notices will be sent to those who have either licence.

There is currently an amnesty in effect for owners of prohibited handguns, prohibited handgun barrels and unregistered restricted firearms which has been extended to December 1. Applications are available from post office outlets.

For more information call Sherri McAdam-Sadauskas, Halton Regional Police Service Province Firearms Officer at 878-5511 ext. 4711.
