Throw away that old snow shovel by installing a snow melting system

This winter you can put an end to all your back-breaking snow-shovelling pains. By installing a radiant snow melting system, you can watch the snow disappear from your driveway and walkways, even in the fiercest Canadian blizzards.

The snow melt system, a series of pipes circulating hot water, embedded in the concrete or installed in sand under asphalt, provides a safe, cost-effective, salt-free alternative to melting ice and snow.

The innovative technology has surfaced in residential, commercial and industrial applications all across North America. Heated concrete or asphalt surfaces on sidewalks, patios, driveways, ramps to parking garages and even loading docks ensure the safety of truck drivers and shipping personnel.

The system includes a composite pipe - an aluminum tube bonded between two layers of plastic - connected to your water heater or a separate boiler. For energy efficiency, the system is operated by an on/off switch or snow/ice sensor.

In Canada IPEX Inc. manufactures

the pipe under the brand name Kitec(r), the essential part of the WarmRite Floor(r) and Kitec(r) Radiant Systems used in both residential and commercial heating applications.

To find out how radiant snow melt systems can eliminate the chills and spills of winter, call IPEX Inc. toll-free at 1-800-268-4664 or visit their website at www.kitec.com.

R-2000 homes aren't just for the rich

Any size or style of house—from traditional to modern, small bungalow to three-story luxury mansion—can be built as an R-2000 home. The important thing to remember is that no matter how big or small it is, a certified R-2000 home is the most energy-efficient, healthy, environmentally responsible house available on the market today.

For more information, please visit the Natural Resources Canada R-2000 Web site at <http://oeenrcan.gc.ca/r2000> or call 1-800-387-2000. You can also visit the Canadian Home Builders' Association Web site at <http://r2000.chba.ca>.
