

Harvestfest offers chance to meet celebrity Joan Rivers

The Kiwanis Club of Georgetown presents its third annual Harvestfest on Saturday, Nov. 4 at Holy Cross Church hall.

The evening starts off with a wine tasting, courtesy of Authentic Wines and Spirits. Various types of wine, chosen by local wine merchant Brian Banyard, will be tested throughout the evening.

The wine tasting is included in the price of $45 per ticket. A roast beef buffet is followed by a live auction and dancing to a live band.

The recipient of the Harvestfest proceeds this year is the local motion fund for the town's new recreation facilities.

Auctioneer Norm Murray of the Shopping Channel will be inviting guests to bid on a book signing by Joan Rivers (yes, the Joan Rivers) which will involve meeting her in person. (local motion promises that she won't comment on what you are wearing!)

There are hundreds of items in the silent auction from weekends away to gift baskets, with items suitable for all budgets.

Tickets are flying for this fun event, so call 877-5206 to reserve your spot.

New exhibit opens

A show of original works in oil, acrylic, pastel and pencil, Oil and Water, by Beatrice Dumbreck and George Perdue will start in the Gallery of the Halton Hills Cultural Centre November 1. Meet the artists on Friday, Nov. 17, 7-9 p.m.

Halton book is a money maker

Conservation Halton Foundation's book Halton: Rising, Wild and Beckoning, has reached sales of 8,000 resulting in $200,000 being raised for conservation in this region, including in Halton Hills. The book is a guide to the Halton watershed which includes the Niagara Escarpment. Foundation Director Sarah Lowe (left) and Foundation Development Officer Leslie Waychison display a copy of the second print run of the book which is available in Halton bookstores or on Conservation Halton's Web site: www.conservationhalton.on.ca.

Guide to the Outdoors

Julie Pomeroy

A friend of mine came in to the shop last week looking for a specific National Audubon Field Guide to buy as a Christmas gift for his niece. He had looked in other shops for it without success, including Chapters (I just couldn't resist including that tidbit of information), and was pleased to discover that I had just the one he wanted in stock. He told me that he gave his nieces and nephews a new Identification Guide each Christmas to enable them to create a collection and to spark interest in discovering the natural world. What a great idea! The Peterson Field Guide Series includes 49 volumes. Let's see. If I start now . I'm 29, I'll be 78 before I need a new idea!
