Author signs in

Lemony Snickett, author of the A Series of Unfortunate Events books for kids was at The Freckled Lion Wednesday afternoon, signing books and embossing them for his young fans like Kelly Parker, 9, of Georgetown, as part of his week-long tour of the Toronto area. The San Francisco-based author of mock Gothic series featuring the misadventures of the Baudelaire orphans, will be releasing his sixth book in the series in March of 2000.

Next Sunday at 3 showcases guitarist/singer Adam Timoon

Arts Alive continues its Sunday at 3 concert series this Sunday (Nov. 26) with well known Toronto-based entertainer, Adam Timoon.

With his rich baritone voice, Timoon has a warm, captivating personality—he's also extremely funny. A guitar virtuoso, who also sings in six languages, Timoon has travelled across North America performing in all the major nightclubs and was chosen to entertain heads of state at the Prime Minister's Commonwealth Conference in Ottawa.

Sunday at 3 is presented in the Gallery at the Halton Hills Cultural Centre. Doors open at 2:30 p.m. and the performance begins at 3 p.m. Light refreshments are served. There is no admission charge, but is instead pay-what-you-can.

Pre-teen singer hits high note at music fest

Eleven-year-old Nicole Cutting of Acton placed first at the Burlington Fall Music Festival — her first soprano competition. Cutting sang the solo, Beauty and the Beast.

Cutting, the daughter of Donna and Wayne Cutting, has been taking music lessons for only two months under the tutelage of Monette Gould. The Grade 6 St. Joseph School student will be performing at Knox Church in Acton on Dec. 16.
